CALCUTTA AND SUBURBS MAHOMEDAN CONSTITUENCY.

(INDIAN LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY)

Muhammad Rafique ... . Petitioner, versus

Yacoob Cassim Ariff ..... Respondent.

Calcutta, 20th October 1927.

This is an Election Petition under Part VII of the Legislative Assembly Electoral Rules to have the election of the Respondent declared void, and to have himself declared the duly elected candidate, mainly on the ground that the result of the election has been materially affected by the improper reception of votes, and by corrupt practices under Part II, Schedule V, of the Electoral Rules alleged in the petition of which particulars have been furnished.

Respondent denies the allegations made in the petition, and submits that his election is perfectly valid, and adds that petitioner was less than 25 years of age on the date of his nomination, and that therefore the petition is not maintainable, and petitioner cannot claim to be declared duly elected.

Upon the several allegations in the petition, and de ials in the written statement the following issues have been framed:—

Issues.

1. Was the petitioner a duly nominated candidate and is he entitled to maintain the petition?
2. Is the petitioner's claim to be returned as the duly elected candidate maintainable?
3. Did the persons mentioned in list A vote in the disputed election? If so, were their votes void?
4. Are the persons mentioned in list B Non-Muhammadan and disqualified to vote?
5. Did the persons mentioned in list C vote more than once in the constituency?
6. Where the persons mentioned in list D (A) dead and the persons mentioned in D (B) absent and were persons named in list D (C) personated by other persons?
7. Was the person named in Appendix F unable to vote, some one else having voted for him?
8. Are the tendered votes, votes of real voters and ought they to be included in the poll?
9. Were the ballot papers named in Appendix G wrongly rejected by the returning officer?
10. Has the security been furnished by the petitioner as required by law? If not, is he entitled to succeed? Is the Tribunal competent to decide this point?
11. Has the result of the election been materially affected on the grounds involved in the above issues?
12. Is the election of the respondent liable to be set aside and is the petitioner entitled to be declared duly elected in his place?
13. Is the petitioner entitled to the costs of this petition?

Decisions.

Issue (1).—This issue is framed upon the defence contention that the petitioner being under 25 years of age was not a duly nominated candidate, and was therefore not competent to present the petition. The petition is presented under Rule 32 of the Electoral Rules, which lays down that an election petition may be presented by any candidate or elector. Rule 30 defines candidate as a person who has been nominated as a candidate, etc. Upon paragraph (1) of the written statement it is an admitted fact that the petitioner was nominated. So far as the maintainability of the petition is concerned, no question of due nomination or of the age of the candidate presenting the petition can arise. Where Rules require due nomination they clearly so lay down (see Rules 12 and 13). The fact that the word nomination in Rule 32 is not qualified shows that mere nomination is sufficient. The English Law on the subject is:—"A person disqualified for nomination, who has in fact been nominated, is a candidate and may petition." (Rogers on Elections, page 250.) This is consistent with the wide definition of candidate in Rule 30, and with the wording of Rule 32. We do not therefore consider it necessary to decide whether the petitioner was duly nominated, and find that the petitioner is entitled to maintain the petition.

Issue (2).—This issue is based upon the contention of the defence that the petitioner being under 25 years of age, and therefore not eligible to be a candidate, his claim to be returned as duly elected candidate is not maintainable. Such a question can only be raised on recrimination under Rule 42. It is not shown that respondent gave notice of his intention to recriminate within 14 days from the date of publication of the election petition under clause (b) of sub-rule (2) of Rule 36 and made the deposit and procured the execution of the bond referred to in Rules 35 and 36 respectively. In these circumstances under the proviso to Rule 42 respondent is precluded from giving evidence that petitioner was under age, and the evidence that has been taken on the point is not legal evidence. It is said for respondent that under Order VIII, Rule 2 of the Civil Procedure Code, apart from recrimination, respondent may raise the question that petitioner's claim to the seat is not maintainable he being under 25 years. Under Rule 37 of the Electoral Rules, every election petition shall be enquired into by the Commissioners as nearly as may be in accordance with the procedure applicable under the Code of Civil Procedure (1908) to the trial of suits, subject to the provisions of the Electoral Rules. As rule 42 lays down special procedure to be followed to enable the respondent to give evidence to prove that the election of the petitioner would have been void if he had been the returned candidate and a petition had been presented complaining of his election, in a case where the petitioner claims the seat for himself, as in this case, it follows that respondent cannot raise the question under Order VIII, Rule 2.

It is further said for respondent that under Rule 45 the Commissioners are to report if the returned candidate or any other party to the petition who has claimed the seat has been duly elected, and in so reporting shall have regard to the provisions of Rule 44; consequently under Rule 44 in this case the Commissioners will have to see if the result of the election has been materially affected by the improper reception of the nomination of petitioner. We hold however that Rule 44 is to be read subject to Rule 42, which precludes the respondent from adducing evidence of petitioner's age, and that it cannot be contended that petitioner's claim to be returned as a duly elected candidate is not maintainable.

Issue (3).—The seven persons in Appendix A have no asterisk against their names in the electoral roll, so they are not voters for the Legislative Assembly. Six of them voted in this election, five for respondent and one for petitioner. The remaining one, Nasiruddin, does not appear to have voted. Votes of persons who are not on the Register will be struck off on a scrutiny (Rogers on Elections, Vol. II, page 239). Five votes for respondent and one for petitioner must therefore be struck off.

Issue (4).—The persons named in Appendix B (witnesses 13—15) say they are Hindus There is no evidence in rebuttal and no reason to disbelieve them. Under proviso (2) of Rule 5 (f) of Schedule II, they are not qualified to vote in a Mohammadan constituency. The Electoral Roll shows that ballot papers were issued to them, though they had no right to vote. Two of them say they did not vote, and the third is silent about voting. It has not been possible to trace their votes as the counterfoils concerned show only the serial number of the voter in the Ward Roll, without any Ward number. This is a serious irregularity, as it renders it impossible to check those votes, but in view of our finding on the petition it is not necessary to discuss the effect of it.

As it is impossible to tell for which candidate these persons voted, if either, no action can be taken on our finding on this issue.

Issue (5).—Appendix C gives the names of persons who are said to have voted twice. Petitioner has examined five of them (P. Ws. 4, 7, 17, 21 and 25). One of them (P. W. 17) admitted voting twice but only one of his ballot papers could be traced. The rest say that they voted once. On examination of the counterfoils it appears that Soleman Ariff Bham voted twice. His ballot papers show that both votes were given to respondent. One of these votes is invalid, and must be struck off. We have not been able to trace any other invalid vote under this issue.

Issue (6).—Appendix D (a) gives the names of electors who are said to be dead, P. W. 5 proves the death of voter Ahmad Khan, P. W. 8 of voter Marai, P. W. 26 of voter Jaker Khan and P. W. 23 of his father-in-law Uzir, supported by respondent's witne No. I. There is no sufficient evidence in rebuttal. The ballot papers and counterfoil show that votes were recorded for these dead persons, in favour of the respondent. These votes must be struck off. The death of Abdul Hakim, Mithu, Gulmir and Haji Sukur Gani has also been proved, but it has not been possible to trace whether any votes were recorded in their names, the same difficulty being encountered as under Issue (4).

Appendix D (b) gives the names of persons who are said to have been absent at the time of the Election, and not to have voted. Hafiz Golam Sarwar (P. W. 16) and Abdul Hosain (P. W. 30) say they were away in Ajmere at the time of the election and did not vote. P W. 22 proves the account books of Hafiz Golam Sarwar showing an entry of Rs. 121 and odd annas spent on Railway tickets on 6th January 1927. This witness also says that Hafiz Golam Sarwar was absent at the time of the election. We find no reason to disbelieve those witnesses. Ballot papers show that votes were recorded in their name for respondent. This must have been done by some other persons, and these two votes must be struck off.

Appendix D (c) gives the names of electors who are said to have been personated at the election. We found the same difficulty in tracing the votes of those persons as we refer to under Issue (4). It is therefore useless to discuss the evidence regarding each. No action is possible.

Issue (7) was not pressed at the trials.

Issue (8).—This issue deals with tendered votes. Jahoor (P. W. 18), Makbul (P. W. 1), and Hamid Mistri (P. W. 11) (Nos. 1, 3 and 2 respectively of the Tendered Voted List) each says that he tendered his vote on being told that a vote had been recorded in his name. P. W. 13 says he identified Jahoor at the voting P. W. 33, Polling Agent, says that he identified Mangru and that the latter tendered his vote. Ashraf Ali (P. W. 2) says he went to vote and was given a paper to sign which he signed and then was asked to leave. He says he did not vote. His tendered ballot paper shows a vote recorded for petitioner. We consider the most probable explanation to be that not being allowed to vote in the ordinary way he thought his vote was not accepted, though the ballot paper shows that he did vote. It is proved that Jahur came to the polling station and repudiated the vote given in his name and that he tendered a vote for petitioner.

We do not think there is any sufficient reason to disbelieve these witnesses. The tendered ballot papers of Makbul, Mangru, Ashraf, Jahur and Hamid Mistri show that they tendered votes for the petitioner. These five votes must be added to the petitioner's total. Ordinary ballot papers show that votes were recorded in the names of Jahur, Mangru, Ashraf and Hamid for the respondent. These must be bad votes, and should be struck off from respondent's total.

Issue (9).—The ballot papers in Appendix G do not appear to have been wrongly rejected.

Issue (10).—This issue was not pressed.

Issues (11) and (12).—For reasons given in the decision of the several issues considered above, the votes of six persons named in Appendix A are void. Five are for respondent and one for petitioner: they must be struck off. One vote under Appendix C for respondent is to be struck off. Votes of four persons in Appendix D (a) are void being votes in the names of dead persons. They are for respondent and must be struck off. Two votes were recorded for absentees named in Appendix D (b) on behalf of respondent and must be struck off. Ordinary votes given in the names of four persons named in the tendered votes list are for respondent and must be struck off. Thus in all sixteen votes for respondent and one for petitioner must be struck off. Five persons in the tendered votes list voted for petitioner, and those votes must be added to his total. Respondent polled 1,421 votes. This will be reduced to 1,405. Petitioner had 1,402 votes, which after one vote is deducted and five added, will be raised to 1,406, thus giving the petitioner a majority of one.

As a result of this finding we recommend that the election of the respondent be set aside, and that the petitioner be declared duly elected to the seat.

Issue (13).—The petitioner in giving particulars of persons whose votes should be struck off was not as careful as he should have been. This has put respondent to unnecessary expenses but respondent has put himself to further unnecessary expense by examining a number of unnecessary witnesses, instead of restricting himself to the case petitioner had attempted to make out. Petitioner on the other hand when adducing evidence showed greater care and restraint. Taking these circumstances and the number of sittings into consideration, we assess the costs at Rs. 750 (seven hundred and fifty) to be paid by respondent to petitioner.

CALCUTTA, THE 15TH NOVEMBER 1927.

RESOLUTION—No. 5538F.

Government have had under consideration the question whether a declaration of age for public purposes, express or implied, in the case of Government servants should be deemed absolutely conclusive and no revision allowed at a later period for any purposes whatsoever. At present Government may, at their discretion, sanction an alteration of the date of birth of a Government servant as recorded in his service book. This power has also been delegated to Divisional Commissioners and Heads of Departments. In actual practice an alteration of the date of birth has been allowed in some departments, while in others it has not. Government consider that a uniformity of practice is desirable in the matter, and have decided that the declaration of age, made at the time of, or for the purpose of, entry into Government service should be deemed absolutely conclusive, and no revision of such a declaration should be allowed to be made at a later period for any purpose whatsoever. This rule should be brought to the notice of all applicants for Government service.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette. Ordered further that this Resolution be forwarded to the Accountant-General, Bengal. for making necessary amendment in the Bengal Audit Manual.

24-Parganas.

No. 2559P.H.—The 19th November 1927.—In pursuance of section 37F of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), it is hereby notified for general information that the Bhatpara improvement scheme submitted by the Commissioners of the Bhatpara Municipality, in the district of the 24-Parganas, has been approved by the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Local Self-Government) and that the particulars of the said scheme are as follows :—

(a) The scheme may be described under three heads—

(i) sewerage and sewage disposal,
(ii) water-supply,
(iii) incidental town planning.

(i) The sewerage scheme provides for sewers in all the important roads of the town, these being laid in such a manner that they can be extended further when required. Sewage will be flushed into the sewers at special depôts, and the discharge from public latrines, septic tanks, and surface drains will be taken into the sewers. The sewage will gravitate to a central pumping station, from which it will be pumped to an outfall works on the east of the railway line. Here the sewage will be dealt with in detritus tanks and sedimentation tanks, and the effluent from the latter will be used to irrigate about 67 acres of land. The present system of sewage disposal by nightsoil cart and trenching ground will be done away with when this new water carriage system comes into operation.

(ii) Water-supply scheme provides for extension of water mains to most of the town area. Water will be supplied by the mills at ten gallons per head of population. The distribution system will be divided into zones, each zone being supplied by the mill within it.

(iii) As a subsidiary part of the scheme certain new roads will be made in order to open up undeveloped areas of the town. Most of these roads will be provided with water mains and sewers.

(b) The estimated cost of the scheme is as follows :—

					Rs.
Sewerage	...	...	...	...	13,10,000
Water-supply	...	...	...	...	3,92,500
Land	...	...	...	...	4,07,865
			Total	...	21,10,365

(c) The estimated cost of maintenance is as follows :—

					Rs.
Sewerage	...	...	...	...	18,000
Water-supply	...	...	...	...	2,500
			Total	...	20,500

(d) The capital cost of the combined scheme will be met as follows :—

	Rs.
Government contribution	7,00,000
Contribution from the mills	11,50,000
Amount already paid for the preparation of the scheme	30,954
Balance in hand in the bank and treasury	1,54,105
Loan to be taken by the Municipality	75,306
Total ...	21,10,365

(e) The Municipality proposes to take a loan of Rs. 75,306 when required.

(f) The recurring charges will be met as follows :—

Provided, further, that, if for any reason the compensation due to any pilgrim cannot be paid to him at the time of embarkation or at or before the time of his disembarkation at the port of his destination, the sum so remaining unpaid shall be made over to such authority administering any fund maintained for the assistance of pilgrims as the Local Government may, by general or special order, designate in this behalf.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE BENGAL JAILS ENQUIRY COMMITTEE, 1927.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

CALCUTTA, THE 28TH NOVEMBER, 1927.

RESOLUTION—No. 881 P.J.

READ—

Report of the Bengal Jails Enquiry Committee, 1927.

RE-READ—

Report of the Indian Jails Committee, 1919-20.

As the result of various irregularities which had come to the notice of Government in the administration of the jails of the Presidency, especially in connection with the murder of Rai Bhupendra Nath Chatterji Bahadur in the Alipore Central Jail on the 28th of May, 1926, a Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Pearson, Mr. W. A. Marr, C.I.E., I.C.S., and Khan Bahadur Abdul Momen, was appointed in January last to enquire into the state of discipline in the jails of Bengal, the efficiency of the subordinate staff, and the adequacy of the supervision. The Committee was also asked to take into consideration the main recommendations of the Indian Jails Committee so far as they related to the management of central and district jails, and to advise Government as to what steps were most urgently necessary to give effect to those recommendations.

2. The report of the Committee was received on the 21st April, 1927, and contains much instructive comment on the various problems of jail administration in Bengal and several valuable suggestions to which Government are resolved to give effect as soon as the necessary funds can be provided.

3. On the first question of the state of discipline among the prisoners, the Governor in Council notes with satisfaction that the results of the enquiry are not unsatisfactory. As regards the efficiency of the staff, especially the subordinate ranks, the report is less favourable. The warders are said to be underpaid and overworked; they receive little or no previous training, and they are, at the best, listless in the performance of their duties and, at the worst, act as the main agencies in the various breaches of jail discipline which occur. The jailor and his deputies are overburdened with office work and frequently leave the supervision of work and the enforcement of discipline inside the jail to warders, or even to convict officers. The Committee states that the Superintendents also are prevented by office work from giving sufficient attention to their other duties, part-time Superintendents spending hardly any time inside the jail, with the result that many prisoners are insufficiently employed or employed on unproductive labour. It is satisfactory, however, to note that there is little trace of unauthorised punishments, and that no fault has been found with the jail diet.

4. The main recommendations of the Committee are summarised in paragraph 23 of their report and are as follows:—

(1) improvements in conditions of service of the warder staff;
(2) training school for the warders and other members of the jail staff;
(3) reduction in the employment of convict officers;
(4) increase in number of the jailors' staff, and separation of their executive and clerical functions;
(5) concentration of prisoners in large jails and substitution of whole-time for part-time Superintendents;
(6) separation of different classes of prisoners;
(7) increase of cellular accommodation in all jails;
(8) reformative influences inside the jail; and
(9) after-care of prisoners on release.

5. None of these recommendations, except perhaps (2), is new; they were all discussed in connection with the Indian Jails Committee's Report, and all of them had already been accepted in principle by Government. Advance was slow, on account of the financial difficulties in which this Government have been involved of recent years, but in some directions considerable progress had already been made before the Bengal Jails Enquiry Committee commenced their investigations. Government had already adopted a scheme for the conversion of the Juvenile Jail into reformatory and industrial schools, and for the opening of a Borstal Institution at Bankura. These were most important steps towards the employment of reformatory methods in dealing with prisoners of a susceptible age, and towards the complete segregation of such prisoners from the corrupting influence of confirmed criminals. Government had also decided on, and have now given effect to, a proposal for opening classes at Alipore Central Jail to give elementary education to the younger prisoners, and if this experiment is successful it is hoped to extend the system to other jails. His Excellency in Council now desires to announce the steps he has taken or proposes to take on the main recommendations of the Committee.

6. The Governor in Council has accepted the recommendation of the Committee, that the first step towards the remedy of all defects is to increase the pay of the warder and to improve the conditions of his service. The administrative approval of Government has been accorded to an increase in the pay of the warder establishment at an estimated recurring cost of about Rs. 38,000.

Schemes are also under consideration for providing an adequate leave reserve of warders and for increasing the accommodation for the families of married warders.

7. The Governor in Council agrees with the Committee that more attention should be given to the training of warders, and the recommendation of the Committee that a separate training school for warders should be established will not be lost sight of, but at present he is inclined to think that there are other schemes which are more urgent. He does not, therefore, intend to take immediate steps to carry out this recommendation.

8. The Governor in Council has under consideration a scheme for effecting, at considerable expense, a reduction in the number of convict officers by substituting paid warders for convict officers in the case of under-trial prisoners, in accordance with the recommendation of the Indian Jails Committee, 1919-20, in paragraph 473 of their report.

The desirability of further reduction of the number of convict officers is also under consideration in connection with a scheme for the complete segregation of habitual from non-habitual prisoners in certain jails. In the European ward of Alipore Central Jail, convict officers have been already abolished.

9. Government had already accepted the principle that the executive staff of the jails should, as far as possible, be relieved of clerical duties, but to carry this into effect a large increase in the clerical staff is necessary. This increase is being effected cautiously and gradually. In the present year, 12 new clerks and 5 additional deputy jailors have been appointed, and further increase in the clerical staff is under consideration.

This increase of staff will have the result of giving jailors and deputy jailors more time for their executive duties inside the jail, and for the general supervision of the Manufactory and Stock Departments, where various audit notes have revealed serious irregularities in recent years.

10. Since the publication of the Committee's report, a whole-time Superintendent has been appointed to Rajshahi Central Jail. All central jails are now in charge of whole-time Superintendents. The administrative approval of Government has also been given to the appointment of whole-time Superintendents to the large district jails at Mymensingh, Barisal, and Comilla, at a recurring cost of about Rs. 13,000.

11. The proposal of the Committee to build an entirely new jail at Dum-Dum or some other convenient place, with cellular accommodation on a liberal scale, in which all the long-term "B" class prisoners from Calcutta and the neighbouring districts could be concentrated, appeals strongly to the Governor in Council, but it is estimated to cost about Rs. 22 lakhs. Possibilities in this connection will be explored, but financial considerations will probably stand in the way of any such scheme being actually sanctioned in the immediate future.

In the meantime, a scheme is under consideration for converting the Presidency Jail into a jail for "habitual" and "B" class prisoners only.

12. The necessity for increase in cellular accommodation in nearly all jails had already been brought to the notice of Government on more than one occasion. Government have from time to time, sanctioned the construction of additional cells in various jails, and will continue to do so as necessity arises and as funds permit. Any general increase in cellular accommodation in the jails in Bengal could be carried out only at enormous expense, and with great difficulty, in view of the general design of existing jails.

13. The Governor in Council has studied, with great interest, the suggestions of the Committee with regard to reformatory influences in jails. Several of the superior officers of the Bengal Jail Department have already studied such questions with great earnestness in England and elsewhere, and the Governor in Council will give his closest attention to the schemes which have been and may in future be put forward, for bringing reformatory influences to bear on prisoners, particularly on juveniles.

14. The after-care of prisoners on release is a matter which will also receive the careful attention of Government. It is impossible for the Governor in Council to proceed very far in this matter without more active assistance from the public than he has hitherto received. He is prepared to give every assistance in his power to any properly organised society which has taken up, or is willing to take up, this very essential work.

15. Some of the other recommendations of the Committee call for remarks, viz.—

(a) In paragraph 20 of the report, the suggestion is made firstly that the power to award whipping as a jail punishment should be restored to Superintendents of Jails subject to the consent of the District Magistrate or the officer in charge in his absence, and, secondly, that whipping should be awardable in case of continued and contumacious refusal to work after other punishments had failed.

Government are giving careful consideration to these suggestions, but have not yet arrived at any final decision in the matter.

(b) Government have accepted the suggestion contained in paragraph 21 of the report that, in addition to the matron in the Presidency Jail, an assistant matron should be appointed. Effect will be given to the proposal as soon as funds permit.

(c) In Paragraph 9 of the report, criticism is made of the rules relating to European prisoners. The Governor in Council understands that the question of the treatment of European prisoners and prisoners of superior social status will be discussed at the forthcoming Conference of Inspectors-General of Prisons, and has decided to await the opinion of the Conference on this matter before coming to a decision on the Committee's recommendation.

(d) Connected questions are raised in paragraphs 14 and 15 of the report with regard to "detenus" and "political" convicts. Government agree with the Committee that such prisoners are difficult to deal with and that their case requires special attention, and are giving careful consideration to the question whether there is urgent need for any radical change in the rules with regard to such prisoners or in the nature of the treatment accorded to them.

16. In conclusion, the Governor in Council desires to thank the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Pearson and the members of the Bengal Jails Enquiry Committee for their valuable report and the promptitude with which it was submitted.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Government of India in the Home Department, the President and members of the Bengal Jail Enquiry Committee, the Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal, and to all members of the Bengal Legislative Council.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council,

O. M. MARTIN,
Additional Deputy Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS ON INLAND EMIGRATION UNDER THE ASSAM LABOUR AND EMIGRATION ACT, 1901 (VI OF 1901), FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30th JUNE 1927.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

CALCUTTA, THE 29TH NOVEMBER 1927.

RESOLUTION—No. 16998.

READ—

The Reports on Inland Emigration under the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 (VI of 1901), for the year ending the 30th June 1927, submitted by the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, and the District and Assistant Superintendents of Emigration.

There was a noticeable increase in the number of emigrants despatched to the Labour districts during the year under review as compared with the previous year.

2. Recruiting operations in Bengal were conducted as usual in the districts of Bankura, Birbhum, Burbwan and Midnapore. The number of garden sardars employed during the year was 340 as against 512 in the preceding year. All worked under the supervision of licensed local agents. The number of local agent's licenses was 13 as against 27 issued in the previous year. The total number of emigrants recruited in Bengal was 147 as against 816 in the preceding year. The largest number of recruits was from Midnapore, viz., 84. The total number of recruits from Bengal and other provinces embarking at Goalundo was 11 212 (including those recruited in the Bombay Presidency outside the Act) as compared with 9,426 in the preceding year.

3. The rest house for emigrants at Goalundo maintained by the Tea Districts Labour Association was duly inspected and found to be satisfactory

4. Arrangements for river transport were satisfactory. Three deaths were reported to have occurred among the emigrants at the halting station at Kharagpur, and there was no death at the other two halting places at Asansol and Naihati. Of the 11,074 emigrants who arrived at Goalundo from the recruiting districts in and outside the Presidency of Bengal, two deserted and one was released. As in the preceding year, there was no case of death or desertion amongst the emigrants during their journeys by steamer from Goalundo or by railway from Chandpur to their final destination.

5. In connection with the transport of labour to Assam receipts amounted to Rs. 565 as against Rs. 650 in the preceding year, while the expenditure increased from Rs. 12,352-5 to Rs. 17,777-7-6.

6. Lieutenant-Colonel A. Denham White, I.M.S., held the office of the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, throughout the year. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to him and to the local officers for their assistance in the administration of the Act.

By order of the Governor in Council,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

(c) Secondary schools* recognised by the Department of Education, Bengal.

(d) Schools recognised under the European Schools Code.

4. Persons not admissible.—The scheme shall not be extended to—

(a) Persons rendering pensionable service whether under Government, under local bodies, or in privately managed institutions.

(b) Law lecturers practising as lawyers.

(c) Teachers working in an honorary, or mainly honorary, capacity, e.g., those belonging to a religious order.

(d) Teachers for whom a separate provident fund is maintained.

(e) Persons working in educational institutions other than as bonâ fide teachers.

(f) Persons holding temporary posts.

(g) Teachers below 20 or over 55 years of age*.

A person already subscribing to another provident fund maintained in connection with the institution in which he is working shall not be allowed to subscribe to this scheme, but an existing scheme may be converted into this scheme with the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction The managers of schools which have provident funds of their own, and desire such conversion, shall apply through the controlling authority specified in rule 7 to the Director of Public Instruction to have their provident funds merged in the Government provident fund, and the Director may sanction such applications. The managers shall thereupon wind up their funds and deposit in the post office savings bank the amount standing to the credit of each subscriber Such amounts shall thereupon become subject to these rules

4A. Exemption.—The controlling authority mentioned in rule 7 may exempt from the operation of these rules any teacher who holds

*N B —(i) "Schools" includes Junior and Senior Madrassahs and also schools and madrassahs to which intermediate classes have been added

(ii) The term "recognised" includes schools which have been provisionally recognised.

* A teacher once admitted may remain in the scheme till the age of 60.

a policy in a life assurance company and pays thereon as premium an amount equal to or in excess of the monthly sum payable by him as subscription to the Government provident fund. Such exemption will be granted only so long as the said premium continues to be paid.

5. Amount of Subscription.—The amount of subscription shall be a percentage of 6¼ of a subscriber's pay, except in the case of a subscriber whose pay is less than Rs. 25 a month, in which case it shall, if he so desires, not exceed Re. 1 a month. In the case of subscribers who pay at the rate of 6¼ per cent. subscription will be calculated to the nearest anna. Voluntary subscriptions in excess of the regular amount shall not be admissible. Subscriptions during leave with or without allowance other than casual leave or during suspension shall be optional on the part of the subscriber.

When a subscriber is on reduced pay on account of absence on leave or for other causes, his subscription, if paid, as well as the contribution of the managers, shall be reckoned on the substantive pay of his post. No Government grant will be made in such cases for any period of leave in excess of one month in any one year, except that, in cases where a subscriber has not been on leave other than casual leave during a consecutive series of years, a Government grant will be made in respect of one month for each of these years up to a maximum of four at any one time.

Pay for the purpose of reckoning subscriptions is substantive pay, and excludes recompense for special occasional services, of acting or personal allowances.

The managers shall communicate to the controlling authority all changes affecting the pay of a subscriber under these rules

6. Contribution by the managers assisted by Government.— The managers shall contribute a sum equal to the teacher's subscription. To assist the managers in making this contribution a monthly grant equal to one-half of this contribution will be sanctioned to the institution by the Education Department, provided the controlling authority specified in rule 7 is satisfied that the management of the institution can raise the other half from funds not derived from Government. The managers' contribution with the subscription of the teacher will be paid into the subscriber's account every month

Example—A teacher's subscription to the fund amounts to Rs 5 a month The managers will contribute a like amount and place the total sum of Rs 10 to the credit of the teacher's account in the provident fund Government will then increase the normal grant-in-aid to the school by Rs 2-8 a month or make a new grant of Rs. 2-8 in respect of this subscriber

In no case shall the adoption of these rules involve any reduction of the actual monthly emoluments received by subscribers from those existing at the time of the adoption of these rules by the school, other than by the amount of the monthly subscription of the subscriber.

It is left to the managers concerned to decide how their share of the contribution shall be provided, but in the case of institutions already aided by Government, except where the monthly credit balance of such an institution after meeting all charges is already sufficient to cover the cost of its contributions under these rules, the extra amount required for the purpose shall come out of a special levy, i.e., a special increase of the fees for the purpose, or from other additional revenue from private sources This condition, however, shall not apply to aided schools which already maintain a provident fund to which the managers and the teachers each contribute equal amounts of not less than 6¼ per cent. of salary, and such schools shall be permitted by the Director to come under these rules without any such special increase in income from private sources. In no case shall that half of the managers' contribution which has to be found from their own resources be derived from Government in the shape of additional grant or in any other manner whatsoever, nor shall it be obtained by a reduction in the total scale of expenditure sanctioned by the Inspector of Schools as a condition of the grant-in-aid.

7. Control of the fund.—Subject to such rules as may be framed by Government from time to time, the controlling authority shall be—

(a) The Divisional Inspector or Circle Inspectress of Schools in the case of secondary schools for Indians.

(b) The Inspector of European Schools, Bengal, in the case of European schools.

(c) The Chairman of the Dacca Board of Secondary and Intermediate Education in the case of schools controlled by the Board.

NOTE.—The controlling authority referred to in these rules is the appropriate authority as defined in this rule.

8. Management of the fund.—(a) The fund shall be managed by means of the post office savings bank system. The subscriber's subscription, together with the contribution of the managers, shall be deposited in a post office savings bank. The following procedure shall be adopted.

(b) The post office shall open individual accounts for each of the subscribers to the provident fund. The managers of the school shall arrange to have subscriptions to the fund due from the subscribers deducted from their salaries when they are disbursed each month and shall remit these amounts, together with the managers' contributions, to the particular post office at which the accounts stand open, accompanied by—

(i) the post office savings bank pass books of the subscribers; and

(ii) a list in the form given below showing in detail the amount to be credited to each account and the total amount of the deposits and refunds:—

(Name of Institution.)

Month of.....19 .

Account number as in the pass book.	Name of subscriber.	Monthly pay of subscriber.	Monthly subscription of teacher.	Contribution by the managers.	Amount of advance refunded.	Total.
		Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
	Total ..

(c) The money received in the post office shall be credited to the different accounts in accordance with the entries in the list and the postmaster, after satisfying himself that this has been done and that the amount of the deposit has been correctly entered in each pass book, shall sign the list, stamp it with the post office date stamp and return it with the pass books to the managers of the institutions from which they were received. The managers shall compare the entries made in the pass books with the entries in the list to see that the former are correct. Any error that may be detected shall be brought at once to the notice of the postmaster.

(d) So far as the post office is concerned the list need not be in duplicate as the deposits will be entered in the usual course in the Post Office Savings Bank Ledger and Journals which will furnish a complete record of the transaction. The managers of the school shall furnish a true copy of the list to the controlling authority. The controlling authority during his periodical visits to the schools shall audit the monthly list of payments into the post office savings bank with reference to the original pay bills or acquittance rolls and satisfy himself that subscriptions and contributions are not received in excess or defect from the subscribers or managers.

(e) Deposits will ordinarily be made monthly before the 15th of the month. In exceptional circumstances, however, deposits may be made at any time and as often as desirable, so that if owing to the temporary absence of a subscriber or for any other cause the subscription of and the contribution on behalf of one or more subscribers cannot be deposited at the same time as the other deposits, they can be deposited singly or collectively at a later date, a separate list being sent along with the pass book in the manner already described. The provisions of sub-sections (c) and (d) will apply to such supplementary lists.

(f) When a pass book is used up, and a fresh pass book issued, a subscriber should apply to the postal authorities, through the managers of his institution, for the return of his used up pass book and it should be forwarded to the controlling authority when received for record and production when the account is finally closed.

(g) When a subscriber leaves one school and obtains employment in another and the Government provident fund scheme applies to both schools, the controlling authority of the school which he has left shall sanction the transfer of his account less any deductions permissible under rule 11 to the post office at which the accounts of the school which he has joined stand open. Any deductions made in accordance with rule 11 shall be credited to Government in the Treasury or to the management in accordance with the provisions of rule 11.

The controlling authority shall maintain a register in the form prescribed in Appendix C of the transfer of accounts sanctioned by him. The managers of a school shall furnish every subscriber who leaves the school with a certificate, which shall bear the countersignature of the controlling authority, specifying the period for which subscriptions to the fund were made by the subscriber and contributions by the management on his behalf.

(h) If a teacher in an institution with its own provident fund joins an institution to which the Government scheme applies, the amount at his credit may at his option, with the approval of the controlling authority, be placed in the fund to his credit in such new institution. In the event of the resignation of a subscriber from an institution to which the Government provident fund scheme applies, and his acceptance of a post in a school possessing its own fund, such sum as may be to the credit of the subscriber may, by private arrangement between the subscriber and his new school managers, be made over to the provident fund of the new school; but Government can accept no responsibility in the matter, and the provisions of rule 11 (f) will apply to such cases.

(i) Subscribers under these rules on whose behalf accounts are opened under the provisions of this scheme are not deprived of their right to open ordinary private accounts in the post office savings bank. The limits to annual and maximum deposits and to the amount on which interest may be calculated in the case of ordinary accounts in the post office savings bank do not apply to accounts opened under these rules. The officer to whom certain specified powers may be delegated under section 45A (c) of the Post Office Rules for Teachers' Provident Fund accounts is, for the purpose of the present rules, the appropriate controlling authority specified in rule 7.

(j) A register shall be maintained by all schools which join the Government provident fund in the form prescribed in Appendix C.

(k) The savings bank account shall be closed at the time the depositor retires or is permitted to withdraw in accordance with these rules. Whenever a subscriber wishes to withdraw from the fund he shall submit an application to the controlling authority, through the managers of the school, giving his reasons therefor. In cases where the controlling authority decides that the subscriber is entitled to the full sum at credit, that authority shall sanction the closure of the account and issue a certificate to the effect that the subscriber has quitted the fund in circumstances which give him a title to the full amount standing to his credit in the pass book. The postmaster shall thereupon close the account in the Savings Bank pass book, and, on receipt of an application for withdrawal signed by the subscriber and endorsed in favour of the school clerk or peon or other person authorised by the managers of the school, pay the latter on behalf of the subscriber the total amount standing to his credit. The managers of the school shall, after receiving the amount from the post office, disburse it to the subscriber concerned on acquittance rolls which shall be filed in the school, an attested copy being forwarded immediately to the controlling authority for information. In cases where the controlling authority decides that a subscriber who has applied for permission to withdraw from the fund is entitled to less than the total sum at his credit, he shall issue a certificate accordingly, sanction the closure of the account, and instruct the postmaster to pay the managers of the school the sum declared by him to be due to the subscriber and the postmaster shall, on receipt of an application for withdrawal signed by the subscriber and endorsed in favour of the clerk or peon or other person authorised by the managers of the school, pay the latter the sum due to the subscriber's credit. The managers shall, after receiving the amount, pay the subscriber the amount due to him, as decided by the controlling authority. All applications to the postmaster to close the account must be supported by the controlling authority's order in original, which should specify the actual amount allowed to be withdrawn. The balance of the account, forfeited by the subscriber under the orders of the controlling authority, shall be drawn under the order of the controlling authority by the managers, less the sum due to be paid into the Treasury under the note to rule 11, which shall be drawn by the controlling authority and credited to the Treasury. The managers, on receipt of their share of the balance, shall credit it to the school funds or to such school fund as they shall think fit, and thereupon send a formal acknowledgment of receipt to the controlling authority, who will file the receipt in his office. The controlling authority shall maintain a register in the form prescribed in Appendix D of closures of accounts sanctioned by him.

The procedure prescribed in this clause shall apply mutatis mutandis to payments made on the sanction of the controlling authority on the death of the subscriber. The controlling authority shall maintain a register in the form prescribed in Appendix F for these payments.

(l) The pass books issued by the post offices on behalf of the subscribers shall be in the custody of the managers of the school, who will annually appoint one of their members to keep custody of the pass books and act on their behalf in the management of the fund. The name of the manager selected shall be notified annually to the controlling authority as also shall all changes immediately upon their taking place. Every subscriber shall, once in each official year, be permitted to look into his account to satisfy himself as to its correctness and shall sign a certificate in token of his acceptance thereof. The certificates obtained under this rule shall be forwarded to the controlling authority for check and record in his office.

(m) If the managers of a school allow their own contribution or the subscription of a subscriber employed by them who has joined the fund to fall into arrears, the controlling authority may take such steps to enforce payment as he may deem necessary and are within his power. Failing all other measures, the fund shall be closed and the school excluded from the scheme.

(n) When a school belonging to the fund ceases to exist, or is excluded from or leaves the fund, steps shall be taken to close, or in cases covered by clause (g) of this rule, to transfer, each individual account. The provisions of rule 11(e) shall be regarded as applying to all cases which are not capable of being brought under clause (g) above. Schools excluded from or leaving the fund shall be ineligible for readmission for a period of five years. When for any reasons the controlling authority considers it essential in the interests of the subscribers, he shall have power to direct that the postmaster pay the sum due on all or any of the accounts to such person or persons other than the managers as he may select for distribution in accordance with the rules of the fund.

(o) Every subscriber on joining the fund shall sign a certificate in the form given in Appendix A in token of acceptance of the rules. These certificates shall be filed with the managers of the institutions concerned.

9. The Registers to be kept by the managers of Institutions.—The following registers shall be maintained by managers of institutions, the employés of which contribute to the fund:—

(a) A card catalogue register in the form prescribed in Appendix B showing the names of subscribers to the fund.

(b) A register in the form prescribed in Appendix E showing the advances sanctioned from the fund and their refund.

(c) A register in the form prescribed in Appendix C showing the transfer of accounts sanctioned by the controlling authority of subscribers who have left the school, and the certificates issued to them of the amounts due to them in the fund.

(d) A register in the form prescribed in Appendix D showing the names of the subscribers whose accounts have been closed

(e) A register in the form prescribed in Appendix F showing the payments made on the death of a subscriber.

10. Interest to the depositor.—Interest shall be allowed on all deposits at such rates as may from time to time be determined for deposits in post office savings banks.

The deposits in the post office savings bank account of each subscriber may, as they accumulate, be invested through the post office in short-term loans or other securities of the Government of India, in the manner prescribed for such investments in the Post Office Savings Bank Rules. The securities in such cases shall be left in the custody of the Accountant-General, Posts and Telegraphs, who will, under rule 49 of the Savings Bank Rules, draw the interest due and advise the post office concerned to credit the amount in the investor's account.

When any subscriber has conscientious or religious objections to the receipt of interest, the manager will notify the post office at which the account stands open and interest will thereupon not be credited.

11. Withdrawal of Deposits.—The total sum at the credit of a subscriber shall be payable to him on his leaving the service of the managers of the institution, in which he is employed, subject to the right of the managers, with the sanction of the controlling authority, to deduct therefrom any sum due to the managers, provided that the total sum deducted shall not exceed the total of the managers' contributions credited to his account and provided that—

(a) A subscriber who resigns his post within less than two years after his admission to these rules will receive, subject to the provisions of clause (f) of this rule, his own subscriptions and the complete accrued interest of the fund, and with the sanction of the controlling authority, given for good reason, the contributions of the management.

(b) A subscriber who resigns his post in a school admitted to the Government provident fund scheme, within less than two years of his appointment to that post, will receive, subject to the provisions of clause (f) of this rule, his own subscriptions, the complete accrued interest of the fund, and the managers' contributions, if any, prior to his appointment to that post, and with the sanction of the controlling authority, given for good reasons on the proposal of the managers, the contributions of the managers subsequent to his appointment to the post above mentioned. The managers shall have full authority to decline to make the proposal in cases where less than two years' service has been given by the subscriber to their institution, though the managers are permitted to suggest that a shorter period of service than two years shall qualify for the managers' contributions, when service, though short, has been of value to the school.

(c) If a subscriber is permanently disabled or invalided, he will ordinarily receive his subscriptions, the managers' contributions, and the whole of the accrued interest at whatever stage of his service he is disabled or invalided. The managers' contributions for the preceding two years may, with the sanction of the controlling authority, be withheld in a case where a subscriber has been incapacitated through his own fault.

(d) If a subscriber is dismissed or removed from service on grounds regarded as reasonable by the controlling authority, the managers' contributions for a period not exceeding two years may be withheld at the discretion of the controlling authority. Such a subscriber will receive his own subscriptions, the balance of the managers' contributions and the complete accrued interest of the fund.

(e) If the services of a subscriber are dispensed with for no fault of his own, he shall, with the sanction of the controlling authority, receive the total sum to his credit, including the managers' contributions and the interest accrued, or if he seeks re-employment in a school which has been admitted to the fund, may continue to participate in the scheme without subscription until the date of re-employment, provided the period of unemployment does not exceed one year.

(f) If a subscriber resigns his post in an institution to which these rules apply for the specific purpose of accepting a post to which he has been appointed in an institution which has not been admitted to the Government provident fund scheme, or which has a provident fund not working under these rules, he may, with the sanction of the controlling authority, receive the sum found to be due to him under these rules, but if he resigns his post without having been appointed to any other post, he shall continue to participate in the scheme without subscription or contribution, until he obtains employment either in an institution working under these rules, in which case his account shall be transferred to such institution subject to the provisions of rule 8 (g), or in an institution not working under these rules, in which case his account shall be closed and he shall be entitled to receive the sum found due to him under these rules; provided that such participation without subscription or contribution shall not extend beyond one year, at the close of which period the account shall be closed and the subscriber shall be entitled to receive the sum found due to him under these rules; and provided also that if the subscriber is fifty or more years of age, and the controlling authority is satisfied that he is retiring from the teaching profession, he shall sanction the payment to him of the amount due in accordance with these rules, without postponement.

N.B.—In all cases where the contributions of the Managers are withheld under Clauses (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this rule, half the amount withheld shall be paid under the orders of the controlling authority to the managers and half shall be paid by the controlling authority to the credit of Government in the Treasury.

12. Payment on the death of a subscriber.—(a) On the death of any subscriber, the managers shall, with the sanction of the controlling authority, pay to the subscriber's nominee, or person producing probate or letters of administration or succession certificate, as laid down in clauses (c), (d) and (e) of this rule, the total sum of money that was at the credit of the subscriber, subject to the right of the managers, with the sanction of the controlling authority to deduct therefrom any sum or sums due to the managers, provided that the total amount of such deductions shall not exceed the total of the managers' contributions credited to the account of the subscriber.

(b) Every subscriber shall be permitted to nominate a dependant or dependants to whom the whole or part of the amount standing at his credit shall be payable in the event of his death. But if the nominee is a minor, the subscriber shall, at the time of nomination, also appoint a person of full age to whom, in the event of the subscriber dying before the minor nominee attains his majority, the amount standing at the subscriber's credit is to be paid on behalf of the minor nominee.

(c) All nominations must be in writing signed by the subscriber and attested by two witnesses and must be sent to the managers. The nominee named in any such written nomination received by the managers shall be and remain fully entitled to receive and give discharge for such amount as the subscriber has nominated him to receive from the sum at his credit until the nominee's decease, or until his nomination has been modified or revoked as hereinafter mentioned. A nomination once made in writing and received by the managers as aforesaid can only be modified or revoked when a modified nomination in writing, or the nomination in writing of a fresh nominee, or the complete cancellation of a previous nomination or nominations under the hand of the subscriber and attested by two witnesses, has been made and duly received by the managers.

(d) In case any subscriber shall die and at his death has not nominated, or has failed in the case of a minor nominee or nominees duly to appoint a person or persons of full age, and any moneys or the balance of any moneys not disposed of by nomination does not exceed Rs. 5,000, inclusive of interest, standing at his credit, and probate of will or letters of administration or succession certificates be not produced to the managers, or if notice in writing of the existence of a will and intention to prove the same, or to take out letters of administration or to obtain a succession certificate, be not given to the managers within the period of one month from the death of such subscriber, or if such notice be given but such will be not proved, or letters of administration be not taken out or succession certificate obtained, and the probate or letters of administration or succession certificate (as the case may be) produced to the managers within the period of six months from the death of the subscriber, the managers, after the period of one or six months, as the case may be, may, with the sanction of the controlling authority, pay such money to any person appearing to them to be entitled to receive them according to the Provident Funds Act No. XIX of 1925.

(e) In case any subscriber shall die, and, at his death, has not nominated, or has failed in the case of a minor nominee or nominees duly to appoint a person or persons of full age, and any moneys or the balance of any moneys not disposed of by nominations exceed Rs. 5,000, such money shall be paid to the executor or administrator only on the production to the managers of the probate of the will or letters of administration or succession certificate of the estate or effects of such subscriber.

13. Withdrawal of advances.—(i) A proportion of the total deposit not exceeding four months' pay of a subscriber may, with the sanction of the controlling authority, be allowed to be withdrawn in cases of urgent necessity when the deposit has reached a sum of not less than one year's pay and the pecuniary circumstances of the subscriber are such that the indulgence is necessary. The following are cited as examples of occasions on which the grant of advances may be considered:—

(a) To pay expenses incurred in connection with the illness of a subscriber or of a member of his family.

(b) To pay expenses in connection with marriages, funerals or ceremonies which by the religion of the subscriber it is incumbent upon him to perform and in connection with which it is obligatory that expenditure should be incurred.

Advances though not confined rigidly to the objects laid down in clauses (a) and (b) above will be made with due regard to the principle expressed in clause (i) of this rule as illustrated by the foregoing examples.

(ii) In determining the advance to be sanctioned, regard shall be paid to the amount lying at the credit of the subscriber. The amount of the advance should be a sum expressed in whole rupees, and should be so fixed as to allow of the monthly instalments fixed under rule 13 being also in whole rupees, the advance applied for being raised or reduced if necessary to enable the instalments to be so fixed.

(iii) When one advance has already been granted to a subscriber a subsequent advance shall not be granted to him, except for strong reasons to be recorded in writing by the controlling authority until at least twelve months have elapsed since the complete repayment of the last advance taken.

(iv) Applications for the withdrawal of any advance sanctioned shall be signed by the subscriber and duly endorsed in favour of the clerk or peon or other person authorised by the managers of the institution and must be supported by the controlling authority's sanction in the original. The manager of the institution shall, after receiving the money, disburse it to the subscriber concerned on acquittance rolls.

(v) Controlling authorities shall maintain a register in the form prescribed in Appendix E of advances sanctioned by them.

(vi) No fresh advance from the fund shall be sanctioned if there is any balance still to be refunded out of any advance already drawn from the fund.

14. Recovery of advances.—The following procedure for the recovery of advances shall be observed:—

(a) Advances shall be made recoverable, at the discretion of the controlling authority, in not less than twelve instalments or more than twenty-four. A subscriber may, however, at his option, make repayment subsequently in less than twelve instalments or may repay two or more instalments at the same time.

(b) Recoveries shall be made monthly, commencing from the first payment of a full month's salary after the advance is granted, but no recovery shall be made from a subscriber while he is on leave of any kind, except leave (or vacation) on full pay.

(c) The instalments shall be paid by compulsory deductions from salary and shall be in addition to the usual subscription.

(d) When an advance is repayable in 12 instalments, an additional instalment, representing interest, and equivalent to 4 per cent. of the amount of the advance shall be paid in the month following that in which the last instalment is paid. Similarly, two additional instalments representing interest, each equivalent to 4 per cent. of the total amount of the advance shall be paid when the advance is repayable in more than 12 instalments.

15. Protection of deposits.—(i) A deposit in the Government provident fund shall not in any way be capable of being assigned or charged and shall not be liable to attachment under any decree or order of any civil, revenue or criminal court in respect of any debt or liability incurred by the subscriber, and neither the Official Assignee nor any Receiver appointed under the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, shall be entitled to, or have any claim on, any such deposit.

(ii) Any sum standing to the credit of any subscriber to the fund at the time of his decease and payable under these rules to any dependant of the subscriber, or to such person as may be authorised by law to receive payment on his behalf, shall, subject to any deduction authorised by these rules and, save where the dependant is the widow or child of the subscriber, subject also to the rights of an assignee under an assignment made before the commencement of the Provident Funds Act, 1925 (XIX of 1925, as amended by Act XXVIII of 1925), vest in the dependant, and shall, subject as aforesaid, be free from any debt or other liability incurred by the deceased or incurred by the dependant before the death of the subscriber.

NOTE.—"Dependant" means any of the following relatives of a deceased subscriber to the Government provident fund, namely, a wife, husband, parent, child, minor brother, unmarried sister and a deceased son's widow and child, and, where no parent of the subscriber is alive, a paternal grand-parent.

16. The decision of the Director of Public Instruction on all questions arising out of these rules shall be final.

17. These rules may at any time be modified by the Local Government.

APPENDIX I.

PERIOD AND COURSE OF TRAINING AND TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SPECIAL CLASS APPRENTICESHIP IN THE MECHANICAL ENGINEERING AND TRANSPORTATION (POWER) DEPARTMENTS.

1. Candidates finally selected for appointment under Regulation 3 will be appointed as special class apprentices for seven years in the first instance under an indenture, binding them to serve on the State Railways on the completion of their training if their services are required.

The continuance of the apprenticeship from year to year will depend on satisfactory reports being received from the authorities under whom the apprentice may be working. If at any time during his apprenticeship, an apprentice does not satisfy the superior authorities that he is making good progress he will be liable to be discharged from his apprenticeship.

2. The apprentices will be required to undergo practical and theoretical training in a Railway Workshop for the first three years of their apprenticeship. During this period they will be granted a stipend of Rs. 75 per mensem. At the end of each of the three years the candidates will be examined, and, if unsuccessful, will be discharged from their apprenticeship.

3. If successful at the examination at the close of the third year of the apprenticeship, well-reported on during the period of 3 years' training in the workshops and otherwise found suitable—

(a) apprentices for the Mechanical Engineering department will be sent to an Engineering College to be prescribed by the Governor General in Council for a course of two years' training in the higher mechanical course; they will be required to continue practical work in the workshops during the college vacations;

(b) apprentices for the Transportation (Power) department will be transferred to the Running department of State Railways for two years, during which period they will be required, from time to time, to attend courses at the Railway School/College of Transportation.

During this period of apprenticeship, the apprentices will be granted a stipend of Rs. 100 per mensem.

4. At the expiration of the second period of training referred to in Rule 3 above, the apprentices will be examined, and will be listed in order of merit on the results of this examination and the examinations during the first 3 years of apprenticeship, taking also into account the reports on the apprentices received during the course of the apprenticeship referred to in Rule 1 above. Apprentices to the number of vacancies, for which the selection was made in the first instance, will be selected in direct order of merit for a further period of training for two years (see Rule 5 below), provided that they have attained the qualifying standard, and the others will be discharged from their apprenticeship.

Provided that if at least half the number of the apprentices, selected under Regulation 4 (a) to redress communal inequalities, do not become eligible for selection under this rule, the deficiency will be made good by direct selection, the number to be selected according to merit being reduced by the same number; in no case, however, will final selection be made if the apprentice has not attained the qualifying standard.

NOTE.—In working this proviso, the number of apprentices in the Electrical Engineering Department, appointed by selection in the first instance, finally selected for further training in the United Kingdom will also be taken into account.

5. Apprentices selected under Rule 4 above will be sent to the United Kingdom to undergo a further period of training for two years, as prescribed in Rule 6 below. During this period of training in the United Kingdom they will be granted a stipend of £250 per annum. They will be granted a free 2nd class passage to the United Kingdom, and during the period of voyage to the United Kingdom, their stipend of Rs. 100 per mensem will be continued.

NOTE 1.—While in the United Kingdom, apprentices will be under the supervision and control of the High Commissioner for India.

NOTE 2 - Any fee or premium, which may be required, in the opinion of the High Commissioner for India, to secure adequate training, will be paid by Government

6. The course of training in the United Kingdom is detailed below:—

Length of Course—two years.

Special Class Apprentices will be required to specialise in either workshop practice or locomotive running work.

Workshops (a).—In the former case the whole period will be spent in a selected Locomotive or Carriage and Wagon Workshop under conditions existing for apprentices and improvers, three months of the time being spent in the Drawing Office and three months in the Correspondence or Accounts Section.

Running (b).—In the latter case, six months will be spent as a fitter in a Running Shed of a British Railway, six months as a fireman on running engines under conditions applying to ordinary staff, six months attached to a Running Shed Office, and six months in the Running Department of an electrified section of a railway.

Theoretical.—In all cases the apprentice will be required to attend, after working hours, a Technical College or special lectures on Engineering subjects, and before returning to India must qualify for Associate Membership of the Institution of Civil or Mechanical Engineers.

7. (a) Apprentices who have successfully completed their training in the United Kingdom, and who will be appointed as Probationers in the Mechanical Engineering and Transportation (Power) Departments (vide Regulation 6), will be granted a free first class passage to India. The stipend of £250 p. a. will be continued during the period of voyage.

(b) Unsuccessful apprentices will be discharged from their apprenticeship, one month's notice of discharge being given along with the intimation that the apprentice has been unsuccessful. They may be granted a free second class passage back to India provided that they embark for India, within a period of three months from the date of intimation that they have been unsuccessful.

3. The candidate's height will be measured as follows:—He will remove his shoes and be placed against the standard with his feet together, and the weight thrown on the heels and not on the toes or outer sides of the feet. He will stand erect without rigidity, and with the heels, valves, buttocks and shoulders touching the standard; the chin will be depressed to bring the vertex of the head level under the horizontal bar and the height will be recorded in inches and parts of an inch to quarters. No fixed limit of height is enforced.

4. The candidate's chest will be measured as follows:—He will be made to stand erect with his feet together, and to raise his arms over his head. The tape will be so adjusted around the chest that its upper edge touches the inferior angles of the shoulder blades behind, and its lower edge the upper part of the nipples in front. The arms will then be lowered to hang loosely by the side, and care will be taken that the shoulders are not thrown upwards or backwards so as to displace the tape. The candidate will then be directed to take a deep inspiration several times, and the maximum expansion of the chest will be carefully noted, and the minimum and maximum will then be recorded in inches, 33-35, 34-36½, etc. In recording the measurements, fractions of less than ½ inch should not be noted.

5. The candidate will also be weighed and his weight recorded in pounds. Fractions of a pound should not be noted.

No. F B 859, dated Calcutta, the 6th September 1927.

From—Sir Charles Tegart, Kt., c.i.e., m.v.o., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Local Self-Government Department (Municial Branch).

I have the honour to submit herewith the report of the Chief Officer of the Calcutta Fire Brigade for the financial year ending 31st March 1927.

The Chief Officer's report gives full details of the working of the Brigade.

No. F.B.-849, dated Calcutta, the 3rd September 1927.

From—A. O. Frederick, Esq., Officiating Chief Officer, Fire Brigade, Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Local Self-Government Department (Municipal Branch).

(Through Sir Charles Tegart, kt., c.i.e., m.v.o., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.)

I have the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Calcutta Fire Brigade during the year ending the 3st March, 1927

The Brigade was in charge of the Chief Officer, Captain B. A Westbrook, from the 1st April, 1926, to the 13th March, 1927, when he proceeded on leave.

The year under review has been an exacting one, and the Brigade was faced with many unprecedented situations.

The actual number of calls for fires, or supposed fires exceeded that of the previous year by 254. The increase is principally due to the wave of incendiarism which spread over the city during the first phase of the communal rioting from April 2nd to April 15th, 1926.

In previous riots incendiarism was not practised to any great extent, but in this instance during the four days ending on April 6th, 151 incendiary fires were dealt with and the resources of the Brigade were considerably strained specially on April 3rd and 4th when 86 and 46 calls were received. In no case however did a fire extend beyond the premises of origin, and in one case only was the Brigade interfered with by the rioters. On April 3rd, 1926 whilst the Brigade was engaged in extinguishing a fire in the Jumma Musjid at the junction of Harrison Road and Clive Street, severe stoning took place, and two of the members of the Fire Brigade were slightly hurt.

On various other occasions the crowds behaved in a threatening manner, whilst the fires they had ignited were being extinguished, but did not resort to actual violence.

A disturbing feature of some of the fires ignited by rioters was that in some cases persons were imprisoned in premises which were then set on fire. In every such case the Fire Brigade arrived on the scene in time to liberate them, and extinguish the fire. No lives were lost and the lives of a considerable number of people were saved in this manner.

During the second and third phases of the riots, incendiarism was practised in a much less degree, and the Brigade had no difficulty in coping with the situation. The precautions taken necessitated the stoppage of all leave to the Brigade whose entire resources were available at a moment's notice. In many cases this confined men to fire stations for weeks at a time, but the men responded loyally to the strain.

Thanks are due to the Bengal Telephone Company, not only for the maintenance of the Fire Alarm system, but also for the work done by the Exchange lines. In no case was any difficulty experienced in receiving calls and many thousand of messages were attended to at the Brigade Headquarters, as in addition to the Brigade work, the whole direction of the Motor Ambulance Department is carried on from that office.

Delay in even a single case would have entailed serious results, as if a large fire had occurred in any congested district during the disturbed period opportunities for loot and mob fury would have been greatly augmented.

At many of the incendiary fires attended looting was in progress, but on arrival of the Fire Brigade the looters dispersed.

Station Officer F. Tucker was awarded the King's Police Medal for his work during the riots.

The work of the Motor Ambulance Department was carried out satisfactorily, and no less than 674 cases directly attributable to communal rioting were dealt with during disturbed periods.

Ambulances as a rule were not attacked, but often were in positions of danger, especially when picking up cases in the vicinity of unruly mobs.

On the 22nd July, 1926, Calcutta was inundated owing to a serious rain storm and the Mullick Ghat Pumping Station which supplied all water for fire fighting in the central and northern areas, including all the most serious fire-risks, was flooded to a depth of some seven feet, and the centrifugal pumps together with their electric motors were completely submerged.

Seven fire engines were sent to the scene and the pumping station was pumped dry. Drying of the electric rotors and stators then commenced, but unfortunately the insulation of the first machine treated was found to be damaged, and it had to be sent to England for re-winding.

Other machines were then submitted to this treatment, but in a slower manner, and after some seventeen days they were able to withstand a satisfactory test, and an attenuated supply of water was available.

Meanwhile orders had been placed for new electric motors in England, and damaged motors were shipped home for re-winding, but the date of supply in each of these cases was given at some twenty-five weeks ahead. In December and January they were delivered and placed in commission, and the water-supply is now normal.

Fortunately the attenuated supply of water enabled the Fire Brigade to cope with fires during the time the pumping staton was partially out of commission, and throughout the whole period no fire spread beyond the premises of origin.

During the whole of this period the Brigade had an anxious time, but improvised arrangements for dealing with fires were resorted to with success. These consisted in sending to all calls some 100 small chemical fire extinguishers, three water lorries carrying some 2,500 gallons of water and a lorry carrying some two miles of hose. In cases pumping in relays from ornamental lakes in public squares, rivers, canals or other sources had to be resorted to.

This breakdown confronted the Brigade with one of the most difficult problems it has ever had to face.

Reports on the work of the Brigade during the perod of rioting and water shortage were submitted to Government from time to time.

The most serious fire of the year occurred at about 2 A.M. on the 23rd March, 1927, when some 27 of the timber yards at Nimtollah were badly damaged. Owing to a late call, and a very high wind which prevailed at the time, the buildings and their contents, both highly inflamable, were rapidly involved, and on arrival the Brigade was faced with a very difficult situation. Twelve motor fire engines and one hundred and forty men were engaged in extinguishing the fire—an arduous and dangerous task owing to the intense heat. Several of the firemen were more or less seriously burnt, and some of the fire engines were slightly damaged by heat.

At one period the buildings on the west side of the Strand Road were ignited, but engines placed in that vicinity had no great difficulty in preventing the spread of the fire in that direction.

The intensity of the fire can be judged by the fact that the reflection and flames were actually seen from the roof of the Fire Brigade Headquarters at the same time as the first call was received from a fire alarm in the vicinity of the fire.

The damage was estimated at about Rs. 2,24,000.

Repeated fires have occurred in this area, which has always been considered to be dangerous.

The question of permitting such a fire risk to exist in a thickly populated portion of the city needs serious consideration and the provision of an efficiently equipped Fire Station in the immediate vicinity is urgent. This has been noted from time to time in the Annual Reports of the Fire Brigade, and in the Reorganisation Report.

It is hoped that suitable land will be acquired, and a grant made for building and appliances. Estimates are now under preparation and will be submitted as soon as possible. Meantime the question of at least subdividing the existing risk must receive serious consideration.

2. Financial Statement.—The statement of receipts and expenditure and payments made by the municipalities within the jurisdiction of the Fire Brigade and Licensed Warehouse Act, I of 1893, is given in Appendix I.

3. Fires, etc.—The total number of calls to fires or supposed fires was 849, an increase of 254 as compared with the previous year and of 412 over the average for the past sixteen years.

The number of wilful false alarms was 87 as compared with 115 during the preceding year.

False alarms due to electrical defects have decreased from 32 to 20, and false alarms caused by lightning on fire alarm circuits and other causes numbered 22.

The number of actual fires was 240 more than that in the preceding year.

The calls are classified as follows:—

Fires	657
False alarms, wilful	87
False alarms with good intent	33
False alarms due to electrical defects	20
False alarms caused by lightning on the fire alarm circuits or other causes (rioters)	22

The actual number of calls received during the year was 1,231 as compared with 964 in the previous year. These figures include instances where more than one call was received for the same fire, and are given so that the means by which these calls were received can be classified.

These calls were transmitted as follows:—

Four hundred and thirty-one (419 in 1925-26) by street fire alarms; 428 (470 in 1925-26) from private telephones through the Bengal Telephone Company's and Government Exchanges; 53 (24 in 1925-26) from Police and direct fire telephones; 38 (23 in 1925-26) by messengers giving information at Fire Brigade Stations and 20 (28 in 1925-26) from Fire Brigade look-out men at the various stations.

Forty-three fires occurred in premises licensed under the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, as compared with 29 in the previous year.

In 323 cases fire were extinguished by means of first-aid machines, chemical fire extinguishers, buckets of water by individual fireman, or by the occupants before the arrival of the Fire Brigade; in 91 cases by one motor fire engine; in 40 cases of electrical fires the switches were cut out; in 8 cases sand was used; in 147 cases by lines of hose from hydrants; in 29 cases by two motor pumps; in 5 cases by the fire-float only; in 2 cases by three motor pumps; in one case by 4 motor pumps; in one case by one motor pump and fire-float; in one case by two motor pumps and fire-float; in one case by three motor pumps and fire-float in one case by seven motor pumps, and fire-float and trailer; in one case by eleven motor pumps, trailer and fire-float; in one case by two motor pumps, trailer and valiant and in one case the gas main was closed.

4. Fire Loss.—The total damage caused by fire and water during the year has been estimated at Rs. 11,94,912 as compared with Rs. 11,38,812 during the previous year, being an increase of Rs. 56,100. The average damage per fire is Rs. 1,819 as compared with an average of Rs. 3,172 during the past sixteen years.

The average fire loss per annum during the past sixteen years is Rs. 13,85,815.

5. The fire loss per fire is classified as follows:—

371	fires	under	Rs 100
205	,,	from	Rs 100 to 1,000.

6. Appliances.—One new motor fire engine of 250 gallons capacity fitted with turbine pump was placed in commission during the year.

The following is a list of the principal appliances now in commission by the Calcutta Fire Brigade:—

Fifteen motor fire engines, as follows:—

One motor pump, 600-800 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with scaling ladders, etc., (Motor pump No. 2).

Two motor pumps, 500-700 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with 55 feet telescopic ladders, etc. (Motor pumps Nos. 1 and 15).

Two motor pumps 450-550 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with telescopic ladders, first-aid cylinders and reels, scaling ladder, etc., (Motor pumps Nos. 9 and 10).

Three motor pumps 450 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with scaling ladders, etc. (Motor pumps Nos 8, 11 and 14).

Three motor pumps 400-500 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with telescopic ladders, first-aid cylinders and reels, etc. (Motor pumps Nos. 5, 6 and 7).

One motor pump, 350-450 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with ladder, scaling ladders, etc. (Motor pump No. 4).

Two motor pumps, 250 gallons per minute capacity, fitted with telescopic ladder, first-aid cylinder and reel, etc. (specially designed for use in narrow streets and congested areas). (Motor pumps Nos. 3 and 16).

One motor trailer pump, 250 gallons per minute capacity (specially designed for use in positions that cannot be reached by the ordinary type of motor fire engine).

One mechanically operated 85 foot motor turntable ladder, one motor emergency tender, fitted with telescopic ladder, scaling ladders, etc., carrying smoke helmets and breathing apparatus, spare hose, and all apparatus necessary for salvage and demolition work, one motor lorry, two motor cars, two hand-drawn steam fire-engines, one 60 foot turntable ladder converted for towing behind motors, 26 hook ladders, 54 scaling ladders, 11 smoke helmets and breathing apparatus, 51, 625 feet of 2½ inch unlined canvas hose, etc.

They are distributed as follows:—

Headquarters.—Five motor fire engines (Nos. 2, 9, 14, 15 and 16); one motor trailer pump; one motor emergency tender; one motor lorry, two motor cars; 16 hook ladders; 20 scaling ladders; 9 smoke helmets; and 24,850 of 2½ inch canvas hose.

Central Avenue.—Four fire engines (Nos. 1, 3, 6 and 10); one 85 feet mechanically operated motor turntable ladder; one 60 foot turntable ladder; 7 hook ladders; 20 scaling ladders, 2 smoke helmets; and 10,350 ft. of canvas hose.

Chitpore.—Two motor fire engines (Nos. 4 and 7); one hand-drawn steam fire engine; 2 hook ladders and 6 scaling ladders; and 6,900 feet of canvas hose.

Howrah.—Two motor fire engines (Nos. 11 and 5); one hand-drawn steam fire engine; 1 hook ladder; 9 scaling ladders; and 6,375 ft. of canvas hose.

Garden Reach.—One motor fire engine (M.P. No. 8) and 3,150 feet of canvas hose.

It is estimated that the motor appliances travelled 16,315 miles during the year going to and returning from calls.

7. Fire Station.—Appendix V gives the number of times each fire station has been turned out in response to fire calls, together with monthly statements.

Fire Brigade Headquarters is still located in rented quarters in Corporation Place. The provision of a suitable site for permanent headquarters is now under the consideration of Government.

In this connection a reserve building fund is being created by placing a sum of money yearly to this fund, and at present Rs. 90,000 is invested in 5 per cent. Government Bonds. It is proposed to provide for another Rs. 30,000 during the forthcoming year. The premises occupied at present are unsuitable and the accommodation is most inadequate. Further, no drill yard is available at this station, and the men have to be drilled on the public thoroughfare.

During the year the hand-drawn steam fire engine at the Garden Reach fire station was replaced by a motor fire engine and a suitable staff allotted. This station protects a large area, including the Docks, Garden Reach, Matiabruz, and the new added area extending over many miles.

For the better protection of the Burra Bazar area and the district to the north thereof, including Nimtollah, Sovabazar, etc., a new fire station is urgently required.

8. Staff.—The strength of the Brigade during the year was 223.

The conduct and discipline throughout the year have been excellent.

9. Fatalities and accidents.—During the year under review the total number of lives lost at fires was 9 (of which 3 were cases of suicide by burning, 1 case of stabbing, and 2 cases of murder by rioters) as compared with 13 during the previous year. Thirty-three persons were injured at fires. (See Appendix VI.) In all cases first-aid was rendered, and the injured persons were conveyed to hospitals where necessary.

10. Water-supply.—With the exception of the occurrences noted at the commencement of this report the water-supply for fire extinguishing has been satisfactory and the benefit derived from the new electrically driven turbine pumps has considerably helped the Fire Brigade.

On occasions the pumping machinery has had to be closed down for the purpose of relaying mains, etc., and during such periods improvised arrangements have been resorted to. These arrangements have been successful so far in dealing with the fires which have occurred, but undoubtedly there is danger of a severe conflagration developing under such conditions.

It is regrettable that more sluice-valves are not available on the system of mains, enabling repairs to be done in various districts without having to resort to closing down the whole system. It is anticipated that re-arrangement of the mains will give a much more efficient supply of water in the more congested districts of the city.

The appointment of water inspectors by the Corporation for the purpose of supervising and regularly inspecting hydrants has had the result of increasing the quantity of water available at fires. In this connection it is hoped that all hydrants can be regularly inspected and repairs to damaged hydrants immediately carried out. It is not unusual for the Fire Brigade to arrive at the scene of fire and find hydrants not in proper working order. This entails delay in getting to work and gives fires a chance of spreading.

I regret to have to record again that no steps have been taken for the provision of a system of fire mains in the Cossipore-Chitpore and Howrah districts, and the remarks in this connection, which have been included annually in the reports for many years past, still apply in their entirety.

Owing to the fact that available sources of water-supply such as ponds, tanks, etc., are being filled up on sanitary grounds, the situation is becoming rapidly worse and fears are entertained of serious conflagrations in these areas, both of which are extremely congested and comprise many and varied fire risks.

I understand that a scheme has been discussed by the Corporation for the provision of a water-supply in the Cossipore-Chitpore area, but so far no definite action has been taken. The lack of an efficient water-supply in these areas necessitates the provision of more hose and fire engines than would otherwise be necessary.

11. Fire-float.—The fire-float (5,000 gallons per minute capacity) is stationed on the river opposite Prinsep's Ghat and is requisitioned when required for pumping water from the river to feed land engines. It was turned out on 21 occasions during the year under review.

12. Street fire-alarms, telephones and electrical communication.—I am able to report that all street fire-alarms, telephones, etc., have been maintained in a satisfactory state of repair and efficiency by the Bengal Telephone Company, and the thanks of the Fire Brigade are due to the telephone operators and the staff of the Company for their prompt attention and ready assistance on all occasions.

Four hundred and thirty-one calls were received over the fire-alarm system. This system is very advantageous in transmitting calls direct to the Fire Brigade and is now thoroughly appreciated by the public. The large number of false alarms given wilfully by misguided persons is a matter for concern.

False alarms are serious in as much as they necessitate appliances being away from their stations and thus being unavailable for actual fires.

13. Inspection Department.—Theatres, etc., are inspected by an official of the Corporation. Indian theatres are maily unsatisfactory in design and construction and overcrowding is prevalent, and unless the threatre bye-laws are strictly enforced a catastrophe is possible at any time should a serious fire occur.

In connection with the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, 1 of 1893, 7,132 inspections of warehouses have been made during the year; 510 applications for license and complaints have been attended to and disposed of; 211 prosecutions were made under section 14 of Act 1 of 1893, which resulted in 112 persons being fined amounts aggregating in all Rs. 2,872, nine persons being warned, 10 discharged, 26 withdrawn and acquitted and 54 cases being filed.

14. General.—The Calcutta Fire Brigade protects the city of Calcutta and the Municipality of Howrah, and may attend fires outside the boundaries of the above (not exceeding a radius of 6 miles from the central fire station), provided that appliances can be spared, on payment of a prescribed fee. The total area protected is approximately 120 square miles.

15. Ambulance Department.—The motor ambulance service has been of great advantage to the general public and responded to 15,283 calls during the year. During the riots this service did excellent work and removed no less than 674 cases to hospital. The staff of the department consists of 10 drivers and 20 attendants with 12 motor ambulances. The service is financially maintained by the Corporation of Calcutta with an annual contribution from Government. The receipts during the year amounted to Rs. 3,042. The total expenditure was Rs. 61,088. The Government contribution was Rs. 11,500, and the balance of Rs. 46,546 was found by the Corporation of Calcutta.

CALCUTTA, the 9th December 1927.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 7th December 1927.

Summary.—Dry weather continued. Harvesting of winter paddy is progressing under favourable conditions. Sowing of spring crops is well advanced. The standing crops are doing fairly well except in parts of North and West Bengal where the condition is poor owing to lack of adequate soil moisture. Distress continues to prevail in parts of Nadia, Birbhum, Dinajpur and Malda. In the latter three districts the number of persons employed on test relief works was 41, 125 and 1,234, respectively. In Bankura the test work has been discontinued. Owing to an influx of new rice into the market the average price of common rice for the province has fallen by about 0·67 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

New Delhi, the 6th December, 1927.

No. 86-I/27-C & C.—The following Interim Report of the Delegates of India to the Eighth Assembly of the League of Nations is published for general information:—

To the Right Honourable the EARL OF BIRKENHEAD, His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

My Lord,

We beg to submit our Report on the Eighth (Ordinary) Session of the Assembly of the League of Nations held at Geneva from the 5th to the 27th September, at which we had the honour to represent India.

2. Following the precedent of previous years we have prepared an Interim Report, because we feel that those to whom we are responsible, and the public in India, are entitled to early information of our proceedings, and because the preparation and printing of the complete record of the work of the delegation will necessarily take a considerable time. This report, therefore, consists of a survey of matters of general interest, and a description of those in which the interests of India are affected, and of the part played by delegates of India in the discussions. The Final Report will reproduce the bulk of this report, together with the text of the Resolutions adopted by the Assembly, and certain reports of Committees and speeches.

The Indian and British Empire Delegations.

3. Numerically the Indian Delegation was the same as last year, but we had the advantage of including among us four members—His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala, Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, Sir Edward Chamier and Sir B. K. Mullick—who had had previous experience of the work of the Assembly. We held no meeting of the Delegation before leaving London, on account of the practical difficulty of assembling a sufficient number of delegates. On most occasions such a meeting would be desirable, if not necessary, but on this occasion there was in fact no question of outstanding importance affecting India except the resolutions of the Economic Conference, and the majority of us were generally familiar with the position and were not in need of guidance on matters of practice and principle. A meeting of the Delegation was held on the day on which we reached Geneva, and on the same day we attended a meeting of all the Delegations of the British Empire convened by the leader of the British Delegation, Sir Austen Chamberlain. Throughout the period of the Assembly we maintained coherence among ourselves by meetings of the Delegation and otherwise, and co-ordination was effected between the Empire Delegations by meetings of leaders and by meetings of the delegates who represented the Empire Delegations on the several Committees. It will be obvious that the Delegations of the British Empire exercise a very great influence in the League so long as they are united, and on the big political questions in which other groups of Powers who are not united by an Imperial bond such as ours act in concert, it is especially desirable that the British Empire should pursue a single policy. The Indian Delegation is not constitutionally in the same position as those of the Dominions, but we believe that the obligation to make the action of the Indian Delegation conform to that of the British Delegation is practically confined to those questions on which the Empire Delegations must of necessity, and in fact do, act together, and that Indian policy is determined on independent lines in those matters in which India really possesses an independent interest. Moreover, those problems of a political character in which the attitude of India might be affected by her present constitutional position are predominantly of an European character and have little direct interest for India, whereas those departments of the work of the League in which India has the greatest practical interest are scarcely, if at all, influenced by political and constitutional relations. It follows accordingly that, in our view, the actual liberty of the Indian Delegation to follow an independent policy corresponds to the liberty which the Indian Delegation would in fact exercise if the constitutional status of India within the Empire were different.

Opening of the Eighth Session.

4. The proceedings of the Assembly were opened on the 5th September by His Excellency M. Enrique Villegas (Chilian Ambassador at Rome and representative on the Council of the League), acting as President of the Council. The credentials of the delegates were verified by a Committee on which His Highness the Maharaja of Kapurthala served. A list of the members of each Delegation will be found in our Final Report.

5. Forty-nine States were presented out of a total number of 55 States, Spain, Brazil, and certain other South American States being absentees. The Assembly was attended by a larger number of Foreign Ministers (21) than has ever previously been present, by the President of the Swiss Confederation, and by the Prime Ministers of Luxemburg and Lithuania. His Excellency Dr. Alberto Guani (first delegate of Uruguay) was elected President after a close contest, in which His Excellency Count Mensdorff (the first delegate of Austria) was the other candidate. The election of Vice-Presidents, members of the General Committee and of the Agenda Committee proceeded in accordance with the usual routine which has been described in reports of previous delegations.

6. The Assembly opened in an atmosphere of some uncertainty and even depression as to the present position and future outlook of the League. This atmosphere had been precipitated by the resignations not long before the date on which the Assembly met of Viscount Cecil and M. de Jouvenel from the British and French Delegations respectively. These resignations were taken as indicating a view that the Great Powers were showing a tendency to settle problems among themselves without resort to the League, and that too uncompromising an attitude was being adopted in regard to the great problem of Disarmament by some of those on whose attitude progress mainly depended. The general debate was expected to range over these two topics, and it was felt in many quarters that the Eighth Assembly, although having before it an agenda of no abnormal importance, might be of critical significance in regard to the future of the League. These expectations were not falsified. There were a number of subjects in which fundamental questions were treated from all points of view, and there was a tendency to precipitate dramatic developments. If some of the results which emerged were of moral, rather than of political or constitutional importance, it should be realised that the ideals on which the League is based represent a fundamental change in the practice of international politics: that such a change can only proceed with safety on evolutionary lines, and that for the purpose of such an evolution a moral stimulus may be effective when instruments of precision would be premature and dangerous. Before indicating in greater detail the lines of the debate, we shall express our belief that the general issue afforded no justification for pessimism, while at the other end of the scale it emphasised the necessity for a proper relation between ideas and facts. The need for tempering enthusiasm with patience is, in our view, admirably expressed in the Report of the Director of the International Labour Office for 1927 which was placed before the Assembly, from which the following passage may be usefully reproduced:—

> "It is impossible not to realise the immense gulf which separates what has been achieved from what was hoped in 1919, when mankind, for a brief moment rose to heights unknown before. At that time, immediately after the great catastrophe of the war, an effort was made to organise human life on a basis of solidarity and peace, and the nations collaborated with one another in setting up a new structure. At that time almost everyone cherished the illusion that international life would at once come into being and that a new era was on the point of beginning.
> "The reality is not what was then supposed. International institutions can only establish themselves by long, obstinate and patient efforts. This has been the experience of the League of Nations as regards international security and disarmament. The apprehensions and anxieties which have been deeply rooted in the heart of mankind by centuries of war cannot be uprooted all at once. The sovereign States are still inclined to rely on themselves for securing the necessary guarantee of security."

7. Although these political and constitutional subjects dominated the debate, many speakers concerned themselves with pointing out that other subjects might be regarded as of no less importance; that for non-European Members these subjects might even be of greater importance, and that while there might be an apparent and temporary lack of success in the League's treatment of political subjects, notable successes in the non-political spheres of activity did much to restore the balance Conspicuous among these is the success of the International Economic Conference of last May, and other spheres in which valuable work has been, or is in course of being, done are those of Health, Intellectual Co-operation, International Law and Social Reforms.

Speech of Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar.

8. The General Debate in the Assembly was opened by Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, in a speech which emphasised this aspect of the work of the League The text will be found in our Final Report, but we will reproduce here a summary.

9. After congratulating the Secretary-General and his staff on the comprehensiveness and thoroughness of which the documents before the Assembly were an indication, he referred to the unique position of India in the League, and spoke of the effect which the world opinion developed by the League might have upon India. He said that the quest of the ideal was one of the strongest characteristics of his race, and that as an Indian he felt at home in an Assembly which expected and indeed assumed the existence of idealism in all its members. While appreciating the value to his own country of its participation in the League, he expressed the hope that the presence of delegates from India and other distant countries was of some value to the League by preserving its character of universality and marking the distinction between a real League of Nations and a mere concert of Powers. He then referred, with examples, to the way in which India had been fulfilling in practice the ideals of the League. It was a matter for sincere congratulation that the League was in its turn realising the importance of Indian and eastern problems. But it was not easy for his countrymen, remote and absorbed in their own problems, to realise in a concrete way how the ideals of the League were being converted into practice, and he would welcome any increase in the relations between the practical work of the League and the actual interests of India. He stated his belief that it was through the technical organisations of the League that the ideals of the League could be most adequately realised in the non-European countries, and he therefore proceeded to deal in some detail with its work in the spheres of health and economics. He spoke of the importance of the Health Organisation, and in particular of its Bureau at Singapore, in assisting the control of epidemics, and he welcomed the projected tour in India of medical officers associated with the League as the first occasion on which a League organisation would come into direct personal contact with India, a contact from which he anticipated valuable results, both from the technical and from the wider aspect. He emphasised the special interest of India in the work of the Economic Conference from which the important and extremely encouraging fact had emerged that in spite of the diversity of theories and the legitimate national sentiments of those who took part there was a unanimous desire that the Conference should mark the beginning of a new era in international commerce. He referred to the present fiscal policy of India and showed that it was harmonious in principle with the conclusions of the Conference. He greatly hoped that the attitude of the League towards the work of the Conference would demonstrate its interest in the problems and conditions of countries far removed from the scene of European economic life, but forming nevertheless important factors in the sum total of world economy. He finished by saying that India was not only content but most willing and anxious to take part in the labours of the League.

The Technical Work of the League.

10. The position which this speech occupied in the order of the debate assured it of the attention which it deserved, and we believe that it, together with speeches made by members of the Indian Delegation later on in the Second Committee, did much to fortify the position of India in regard to an effective participation in the technical work of the League, which is, as we have already indicated, that part of the League's work most directly beneficial to India in present circumstances. There were other speakers also who set themselves to emphasise the success as well as the importance of the League's technical activities, and particularly those in the economic sphere. Chief among them was the British delegate, Sir E. Hilton Young, who opened his speech by saying that the indirect attack upon the economic problem might be of equal importance to the cause of peace as the direct enforcement of security. It was a dramatic revelation, he said, that in the material sphere, as in the ideal sphere, there was no necessary conflict between the interests of nations, and he considered that the results of the Economic Conference were welcome because they expressed the ideas which were fundamental in the League, the ideas of harmony between nations. They not only expressed these ideas but gave them the most practical assistance in pointing out the path which would lead away from war. It was not always the most direct path which led straightest to a given objective. The course of disarmament, of direct reduction of military armaments, seemed to be crossed by some very difficult precipices, but there were skilled guides to show the way round. He asked whether it was not possible that the skilled guides of the Economic Conference were actually showing what is the path by which permanent and established peace would be achieved sooner and more directly than by any straight proceeding through difficult country. The instincts of hostility which led to war were the resultant of many different causes, and amongst them economic causes were not the least. The League could have no higher or more direct occupation than to attempt to get rid of that economic strain which was the direct outcome of the causeless fears left by the war.

Relation of Greater and Smaller Powers.

11. We must now describe briefly the main currents of the debate on political topics. In the first place, there was some tendency to suggest that the events of the last year had indicated an increase in the relative disparity of the authority exercised respectively by the Great Powers, that is to say in effect those Powers who have permanent seats on the Council, and by the main body of League Members. It was implied that there was a diminution of the effective participation of the latter in international politics owing to an increasing disposition on the part of the former either to keep certain subjects outside the League's purview or to deliberate upon them in private in such a manner that they came before the League virtually as chosen jugees. In particular this point of view was expressed with emphasis by Mr. Hambro of Norway, who referred among other matters to the increasing preponderance of diplomats, as compared with statesmen, in representation of Governments at League meetings, and criticised the extent to which elections to appointments of authority in the Assembly were managed behind the scenes. His speech was received with interest, and evidently with a certain degree of sympathy, but we believe that the points which he made were rebutted to a large extent, and perhaps entirely, by subsequent speakers to the satisfaction of the Assembly as a whole. The best answer to his general complaint was supplied by M. Motta, President of the Swiss Confederation, who said that he had never favoured the endeavours of those who wanted to set the small nations against the great, or to sow seeds of difference between great and small, and that he knew that the Great Powers could very well do without the League of Nations, and that it was the small nations which needed the League if they were to have any influence on international affairs. It has to be remembered, we consider, that the League gives the less powerful States opportunities of participation in international affairs which they never enjoyed before and would never enjoy otherwise. Under the Covenant each State represented at the Assembly has one vote and no more than one vote, but it is necessary to appreciate the inevitable fact that that vote cannot be exercised by all with equal freedom and authority. We believe that those in India who are qualified by a knowledge of facts to appreciate the position from the point of view of India will be disposed to agree rather with M. Motta than with Mr. Hambro. Mr. Hambro referred to a view that the General Debate in the Assembly on the Annual Report on the work of the Council was tending to become an exchange of complimentary banalities and that Members of the Council preserved silence in the Assembly on any comments that were offered. If that has ever been true, it was certainly not true of the Eighth Assembly. No important voice was silent. The debate was searching and frank in its mode and lacked nothing in range.

Elections to Council.

12. At this point it is relevant to mention the election of non-permanent Members of the Council, because the result is an indication of the effective assertion of their views by the lesser Powers. Under the rules adopted last year non-permanent seats are tenable for three years, and the three States which retire from the Council each year must normally wait for three years before being eligible for re-election. But a retiring State may be declared eligible for immediate re-election by a two-thirds majority of the Assembly. Of the three States which retired this year, Belgium, Czecho-Slovakia and San Salvador, the first named applied for a declaration of re-eligibility and it was known that her application was regarded with favour by Great Britain, France and Germany on the ground that the presence on the Council of all the Locarno Powers was desirable. The application failed because of the evident determination of the lesser Powers to make the principle of rotation a reality. Consequently Cuba, Finland and Canada were elected. The election of Canada is notable because this is the first occasion on which a Dominion member of the British Empire has acquired a seat on the Council.

Assembly Debate on Arbitration, Security and Disarmament.

13. We have now to deal with the subject of Disarmament, with which are associated those of Arbitration and Security. It will be remembered that at its Seventh Ordinary Session in September 1926, the Assembly adopted a resolution requesting the Preparatory Committee on Disarmament, appointed in 1925, to hasten the completion of its work so that it might be able to draw up a programme for a Conference on Disarmament early in 1927. The Conference has not yet been convened, but much useful work has been done. The Preparatory Committee has prepared what has been called a "first reading" draft of a Convention on Disarmament, though it has not been able to secure anything like unanimity on several of the most important points. It has also devoted much time to the consideration of such subjects as the working of the organs of the League in times of crisis, technical methods for the reduction and limitation of armaments, and the relations between the economic and military resources of States, and to special questions such as chemical warfare, civil aviation and defence budgets.

14. At the opening of the Assembly this year it seems to have been felt by many that little more could be done by the Preparatory Committee until greater international security had been attained, and most of the proposals that were put forward in the Assembly and in the Third Committee were designed to deal with this difficulty. At the third meeting of the Assembly the Dutch Delegation submitted a draft resolution to the effect that the time had come to resume the study of the principles on which the Geneva Protocol of 1924 was based, and it was suggested that the study of those principles along with the report of the Preparatory Committee on Disarmament should be referred to the appropriate Committees of the Assembly. It will be remembered that the Geneva Protocol of 1924 was designed to secure compulsory arbitration in international disputes if conciliation by the Council failed, and to provide for individual and collective action by States at the request of the Council against a recalcitrant State. This proposal received some support in the Assembly, but several Delegations objected to it on the grounds that it would inevitably reopen the discussions of 1924, that there was no hope of agreement, and that the proposal would probably do little more than call attention once more to the reasons why several States had been unable to accept the Protocol. Sir Austen Chamberlain stated that the British Government was still unable to accept compulsory arbitration of the kind contemplated by the Protocol or to undertake responsibilities such as the Protocol would lay upon the British Government. The Dutch Delegation then modified their proposal by substituting "the principles of arbitration, security and disarmament" for "the principles of the Geneva Protocol." So modified the Dutch proposal was referred to the Third Committee for consideration. There was also referred to the Third Committee a proposal by the Polish Delegation that the Assembly should record a declaration that all wars of aggression are and always shall be prohibited, that every pacific means must be employed to settle disputes of every description which may arise between States, and that States Members of the League are under an obligation to conform to these principles. Many Delegations pointed out that this resolution would add nothing to what was already contained in the Covenant, but others maintained that a solemn declaration of this kind was of great value. In deference to the views of the latter the Third Committee accepted the proposal and the Assembly passed a resolution accordingly.

15. The debate in the Assembly was of intense interest, and all aspects of the question were frankly and fully deliberated. It would be impossible to summarise the discussion briefly, and we must content ourselves with indicating some of its leading features. Jonkheer Beelaerts van Blokland, the first delegate of the Netherlands, referring to the Dutch resolution which we have alluded to above, reminded the Assembly that in 1926 the first delegate of the Netherlands had used the following words: "The Protocol is not dead; it is most certainly not buried; it but slumbers. Do not let us seek now to remodel or perfect it, rather let it rest." He said that, while these words were fully justified and entirely reasonable on the eve of the conclusion of the Locarno Treaties, he thought that if this state of rest were to be prolonged it might degenerate into lethargy. It was necessary to continue the study of the important principles underlying the Protocol, and the Assembly must realise that public opinion in different countries was moving in this direction, and that, particularly in overseas countries, there was a growing current of opinion which had adopted as its watchword "The outlawry of war." The principle of compulsory international jurisdiction was a necessary complement of these ideas, but if this end was to be achieved the Great Powers must not continue to shirk obligations. The speech of the Dutch delegate and the resolution which he moved profoundly influenced the current and character of the subsequent debates, and it is a conspicuous example of the part played by the lesser Powers in the Eighth Assembly. M. Politis, the Greek delegate and one of the authors of the 1924 Protocol, said that, if he had rightly understood the speech with which the Dutch proposal was introduced, the purpose in view was to revert to the idea of general compulsory arbitration. This would be the idea of the Protocol, with its fundamental basis of compulsory arbitration but without the system of sanctions. He did not believe that, in the present state of affairs, it would be wise or practicable to bring up the Protocol again, this belief being based on the fact that the obstacles which wrecked its progress before were still unchanged. Circumstances hardly warranted the hope that there was at present any likelihood of overcoming the obstacles to compulsory arbitration, and even if that were not so he could not conceive of compulsory arbitration as an element of security unless accompanied by an adequate system of sanctions. The cause of the Protocol would be hindered rather than served if a demand were made to take it up in fractions or segments, and he thought that the counsel of wisdom was to wait patiently in the belief that public opinion would soon declare itself in a manner which would enable the Protocol to emerge as an international reality. He went on to say that if security was a necessary preliminary to disarmament, and if security itself was founded on justice, justice in its turn was based on the existence of law, and he therefore attached great importance to the work which the League had done and would continue to do in the development and enrichment of international law.

16. Dr. Stresemann, the German Foreign Minister, said that he could not be content with the pessimistic policy of waiting which had been advocated by M. Politis. He could not believe that the proposal of the Polish Delegation for a solemn declaration prohibiting all wars of aggression if adopted by the Assembly would have no effect on the present situation. Many might prefer to work by means of Conventions having binding force, but he felt that faith in an ideal could be as important as a legal formula. It was not the mere clauses of a treaty which brought about peace, but the spirit of the peoples and the consciences of their responsible leaders. As evidence of the belief of the German Government in arbitration, he intended during the present session of the Assembly to append his signature to the optional clause of the Statute of the Permanent Court of International Justice. A promise had been made that the disarmament of the nations which were vanquished in the war should be a preliminary to general disarmament, and he appealed to the Assembly not to betray the faith which had been placed in the sanctity of this pledge. Dr. Stresemann further developed the German view in regard to disarmament in a speech in the Assembly after the report of the Third Committee had been presented. He said that Germany was emphatically of opinion that the commencement of general disarmament should not be dependent on fresh guarantees of security, which was indeed the standpoint of the Assembly of 1926. He welcomed the resolutions of the Third Committee as being a satisfactory result of difficult negotiations. Every step forward in general disarmament would itself provide fresh elements of security for the whole world. Armaments could not, and should not, form the basis of security, and they were not even the most effective protection. The success of Germany in overcoming the psychological difficulties of disarmament presented by her great military traditions ought to make it easier for other countries to follow suit. He concluded by saying that the entire institution of the League could not live and be effective until the duty of general disarmament had been discharged and until in consequence the conditions necessary for that atmosphere required for a common and collective guarantee of peace had been fulfilled.

17. M. Briand made a speech such as the Assembly has learnt to expect of him, which appeared to be designed rather to create a favourable atmosphere and to restore confidence than to make any precise or concrete contribution to the subject matter of the debate. He said that the strength of the League lay in the trust of the peoples; they did not always reason, but they had an instinctive feeling of trust in the League; they knew that without the League there was always the danger of a renewal of strife. Alluding to the speech of M. Politis, he said that the peoples were prepared to wait, but not to wait indefinitely.

18. Sir Austen Chamberlain, who was the last of the representatives of the Great Powers to speak in the opening debate, said that Great Britain had proved by her deeds her desire to see a real and large reduction of armaments: the British Army had been reduced immediately peace was secured to less than its pre-war level, and the British Fleet could not be compared with the Fleet which Great Britain had maintained not merely during the war but before the war. Turning from disarmament to arbitration, he asked the Assembly to bear in mind the special conditions of the British Empire, which was not a unitary system of government, such as prevailed in other countries, but a great community of free and equal nations, each autonomous, united in the oldest League of Peace in the world. It was not easy for such an Empire to accept obligations which could be readily undertaken by a homogeneous State speaking with the voice of a single Government. He claimed that Great Britain had arbitrated more grave problems than any other country in the world, and gave as a special instance the case of the Iraq frontier, in which Great Britain had used the verdict which had been given in her favour to open negotiations with Turkey and to make acceptable to her an award which could have been rigidly enforced. Passing on to security, he said that Great Britain had not merely accepted all the obligations of the Covenant, but had also become parties to the Locarno Agreement, knowing what it was to give a guarantee and the cost of keeping a guarantee. He asked whether other parties could not accept liabilities similar to those accepted at Locarno with a view to guaranteeing other troubled frontiers in the same way as Great Britain had guaranteed the western frontiers of France. Those who asked Great Britain to guarantee every frontier as she had guaranteed one in the Treaty of Locarno were asking her to undertake an obligation which was beyond her strength. All parties did not look upon the League in the same way; their faith was the same and their purpose was the same, but the way in which they would reach their purpose varied with their circumstances, their temperaments and their responsibilities. In the organic world it was not those organisms which came most quickly to maturity that reached the greatest strength or lasted the longest; and he regarded the League in the light of this analogy.

19. This speech naturally made a deep impression and had a decisive influence in ensuring that the subsequent discussion, which might otherwise have wasted itself in theory and idealism, was directed into channels calculated to lead to important practical results. Dr. Nansen, of Norway, in a speech in the Assembly on one of the last days of the session, paid a notable tribute to the force and conviction of Sir Austen Chamberlain's speech. He said that no one who had worked at Geneva had failed to realise that Great Britain, since the beginning of the League, had given the most consistently powerful support to it and its existing provisions. If Great Britain had hesitated to increase those commitments, they all realised that it was chiefly because she took those commitments so seriously and that she was anxious not to weaken her power to honour existing engagements by contracting new ones. They also realised the special position of Great Britain and of the Empire, and also the fact that owing to the British Navy any additional commitments in regard to arbitration and sanctions would be more onerous for Great Britain than for other countries. Even if they might regret the course which events had taken, they understood the reasons which in a large measure determined it. It is an important fact that Governments of the British Empire should thus receive recognition of their policy of not accepting obligations unless they fully intend and are assured of their ability to carry them out scrupulously. India, we believe, can claim to enjoy this reputation as much as any other part of the Empire.

Sphere of Action of the League.

20. At the Seventh Assembly Viscount Cecil had proposed that a Committee should be appointed to consider and report what questions are, and what are not, within the sphere of action of the League, within the meaning of the Preamble to, and Articles III and IV of, the Covenant. Lord Cecil had explained that this proposal was not animated by any desire to restrict or diminish the legitimate activities of the League; but it was felt in some quarters that there was a tendency which should be checked, to encourage the League to take up subjects which were foreign to the purpose for which it was founded, viz., to secure international co-operation making for the peace of the world. The proposal to set up a Committee was not accepted, and the Seventh Assembly not being able to agree upon any alternative formula, decided that the question should be postponed for further consideration at the Eighth Assembly. But before the Eighth Assembly opened the British Government informed the League that they believed that the consideration which the matter had already received had to a large extent met their object, and lessened the probability of the recurrence of those dangers to which attention had been called. In these circumstances they proposed that the question should not be further pursued for the present. Accordingly no further discussion occurred at the Eighth Assembly. We think that the ventilation of the question has undoubtedly been useful in creating a public opinion which will cause each new proposal for an extension of the League's operations to be carefully scrutinised. This was evident on several occasions this year, and notably when the proposal for taking up the question of alcoholism came before the Second Committee.

Work of the Six Committees.

21. We now turn to the work of the six Committees which were constituted as follows in accordance with precedent:—

COMMITTEE I.

Legal and Constitutional Questions.

COMMITTEE I.—Legal and Constitutional Questions.

22. The First Committee dealt with various matters of a technical character, including the legal aspect of certain of the proposals submitted to the Third Committee in regard to Disarmament, Arbitration and Security. But the only one of sufficient general interest to require mention in this Report is the following:—

CODIFICATION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

23. Last year the First Committee was unable to arrive at any definite conclusion as to the instructions to be given to the Committee of Experts appointed to consider the possibility of codifying international law, of which Sir Mohammad Rafique is a member as an expert on Moslem law. That Committee accordingly continued its work as before and in April 1927 presented a report to the Council to the effect that seven subjects were in certain of their aspects ripe for regulation by international action, namely:—

(1) Nationality.
(2) Territorial waters.
(3) Diplomatic privileges and immunities.
(4) Responsibility of States for damage done in their territory to the person or property of foreigners.
(5) Piracy.
(6) The procedure of International Conferences and procedure for the drafting of treaties.
(7) Exploitation of the products of the sea.

24. The Committee of Experts recommended that subject No. 6 should in the first instance be studied by the Secretariat, and that subject No. 7 should be examined by the Economic Committee of the League or by the Permanent International Council for the Exploration of the Sea at Copenhagen, and that the Council should then consider whether any further action was possible or desirable. Doubt had been expressed whether subjects Nos. 3 and 5 were of sufficient interest at the present time to justify the inclusion of them in the programme of an International Conference, but recommended that after the completion of such preparatory work as might be necessary, an International Conference should be convened to deal with subjects Nos. 1, 2 and 4. This report was referred by the Assembly to the First Committee.

25. After a lengthy discussion of the report and of a proposal made by the Paraguayan Delegation that a Committee of Experts should be entrusted with "the preparation of a general and comprehensive plan of codification of International Law, paying due regard as far as possible to the work of codification which is being carried on in America," the First Committee appointed a strong Sub-Committee to examine the whole subject and eventually submitted a report to the Assembly recommending that an International Conference should be convened to deal with subjects Nos. 1, 2 and 4 only, and that to that end a Preparatory Committee consisting of five persons possessing a wide knowledge of international practice, legal precedents and scientific data relating to those questions should be appointed to prepare a report detailing the bases of discussion at the Conference. The Committee recommended also that the Council should attach to the invitation to be issued to States to join in the Conference draft regulations for the procedure of the Conference indicating the general rules which should govern the discussions.

26. The Dutch Government had offered to convene the Conference and also supervise the necessary preliminary work, but the First Committee considered that this should be undertaken entirely by the League. It recommended, however, that the Council should, if possible, arrange to have the Conference held at The Hague, and expressed the hope that the Dutch Government would agree to this. As regards the method of dealing with subjects Nos. 6 and 7, the First Committee approved generally the proposals of the Committee of Experts. The Assembly passed a resolution adopting all the recommendations of the First Committee on this matter. There was, however, a considerable controversy as to the provision of funds to enable the Committee of Experts to continue its work in 1928. This is referred to later in connection with the Budget and Supplementary Estimates.

27. With reference to the proposal of the Paraguayan delegation, the Assembly, on the recommendation of the First Committee, requested the Committee of Experts to consider at its next session under what conditions the work referred to in that proposal could be undertaken, and reserved a decision as to the course to be adopted until the Committee of Experts had made its suggestions and the Council had had an opportunity of considering them. The speeches delivered in the First Committee indicated that the general opinion was that the Paraguayan proposal was too ambitious, and that in any case it was desirable to await the result of the efforts to be made to deal with the three subjects specified above before attempting anything in the nature of the general codification of International Law. But the Assembly seemed to be in general agreement with the view that the classification and extension of International Law had a close relation with the problem of security, as it would extend the scope of arbitration. In principle, therefore, the work of codification has acquired a new importance.

COMMITTEE II.—Technical Organisations.

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

28. The success of the Economic Conference held at Geneva in May was the most important achievement of the League in the last 12 months. We have already referred to the subject in general in our account of the opening debate of the Assembly. With the exception of the group of questions relating to arbitration, security and disarmament, this was the most vital topic on the agenda of the Eighth Assembly. Broadly speaking, the issue which the Report of the Conference raised was whether, both in principle and in practice, it would be reasonable to recognise and possible to effect in the domain of economics a closer international relationship than in the past.

29. Two main questions presented themselves, viz., the degree in which the Assembly should accept the conclusions of the Conference and advocate their pursuance, and the developments which would accordingly be necessary in the economic organs of the League for the purpose of the new policy.

30. Those who wish to study the problem in detail are advised to refer to the Report of the Conference and the Report of the Indian Delegation which have been published in a convenient form in India. Many countries had already found themselves able to endorse the conclusions of the Conference and to express their intention to co-operate in carrying them into effect. This was not yet possible in the case of India for reasons which were explained in a declaration made in the Second Committee by our leader. This declaration will be reproduced verbatim in the Final Report, and the following is a summary:—

31. The Earl of Lytton said that India supported unhesitatingly the general principle that the economic policy of States should be directed towards the peace and prosperity of the world, and would welcome the elimination of any economic factors calculated to cause friction or misunderstanding. He believed there was no important recommendation of the Conference which was inconsistent with the past or present economic policy of India, and that India on the whole stood to gain by the adoption throughout the world of the general recommendations of the Conference. If on minor points there were any inconsistencies the Government of India would seek to reconcile them. The future policy of India was likely to be as much in conformity with the recommendations of the Conference as that of the past. His inability to accept those recommendations without reserve was due not to the fact that any action was contemplated in the future which was inconsistent with them, but rather to the lack of opportunity of ascertaining public opinion in India during the short time that had elapsed since the Conference was held and the undesirability of committing the peoples of India to agreement with a document which they had not yet studied. It would militate against ultimate acceptance by India were she committed in advance of the study and discussion of the Report for which facilities were being provided. He referred to the recent grant of a large measure of fiscal autonomy to India and to the natural desire of the Indian people to guard their recently gained freedom. The policy of discriminating protection did not conflict with the principles laid down by the Conference He had very little doubt that the Report of the Conference, when it had been fully examined by the public in India, would be found to be in general conformity with Indian economic policy, and that if the decision of India was left unhampered by premature commitments the spirit in which the Conference performed its task would be appreciated and its recommendations generally accepted.

32. A Resolution was submitted to the Second Committee by one delegate proposing to endorse the conclusions of the Conference as a whole and without reserve, but we were instrumental in influencing the form of the resolution finally adopted so that it gave satisfaction to our point of view. This resolution noted with satisfaction that many Governments had made declarations accepting the principles and stating their intention of co-operating in their application, while no declaration in the contrary sense had been made. It expressed a belief that there was every reason to hope for universal approval when the public opinion of all countries had been sufficiently instructed, and it recommended the resolutions of the Conference to the favourable consideration of all Governments, and trusted that those Governments which had not yet declared their support would shortly be able to do so.

33. The development of the economic organisation of the League had been much discussed at the Economic Conference itself, which in the end had contented itself with recording a resolution to the effect that, while offering no suggestions for a permanent organisation, it could not do better than draw the Council's attention to the well-balanced composition of the Preparatory Committee, which had achieved excellent results in the preparatory work of the Conference. The problem was referred by the Council to the Assembly, and it is a fact of some significance that it was the Assembly and not the Council which worked out the scheme of organisation described below. The possibilities ranged from a continuance of the Economic Committee in its existing form—that is to say, a committee of 14 members nominated for their personal expert qualifications—to an independent organisation on the lines of the International Labour Organisation. Each extreme had its advocates. The continuance of the Economic Committee on its existing footing was advocated on the ground of practical efficiency, while those who proposed other schemes were influenced by a desire to introduce the principle of representation, whether it should be national or functional representation, so as to secure the widest possible authority and the greatest support. The resolution which embodied the conclusions of the Second Committee was a compromise combining both ideas. The Economic Committee will be increased from 14 to 15 members and the basis of appointment will remain the same, with some modification of its actual membership. It will continue to be the organ through which the Council deals with economic affairs, and its principal work in the near future will lie within the sphere of the economic relations between States and their economic policies so far as they have international aspects. Under a new provision it will have power, subject to Council provision, and in consultation with the States in question, to name economic correspondents in countries which have no member on the Committee. In addition to the Economic Committee there is to be created an Advisory Committee, the object of which will be to follow the application of the recommendations of the Economic Conference. It will be similar in numbers, and in the equilibrium of interests represented by its members, to the Preparatory Committee for the Economic Conference, and will include persons competent in industry, commerce, agriculture, finance, transport, labour questions, and questions relative to consumption. The International Labour Office will be invited to submit the names of three Labour members, and arrangements will be made to secure the co-operation of the International Institute of Agriculture and of the International Chamber of Commerce. Its meetings will be attended by five members of the Economic Committee. It will submit its report directly to the Council of the League, at the same time forwarding a copy of its decisions to the Economic Committee and to the other technical organisations concerned.

34. The respective functions of the two bodies are not very clearly defined, and this lack of clarity is the result of a certain divergence of views. But the differences in the constitution and in the character of membership of the two bodies will probably tend in themselves to produce a differentiation of function, and will lead empirically to a solution of the difficulty which could not be entirely resolved in debate.

35. India has not hitherto been represented on the Economic Committee, but she was represented on the Preparatory Committee for the Economic Conference. We think that she has much to gain from representation, and a strong claim to it. That claim has been presented in the proper quarter, and Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar referred to it in a speech in the Second Committee in which he pointed out not only the necessity for representing agricultural interests, but also the special difficulty of doing so owing to the comparative lack of organisation in agriculture. In the report which he presented to the Second Committee, and which was approved, M. Loucheur pointed out that the programme which the Economic Conference had drawn up for the League could not be successfully carried out unless agricultural interests were represented as widely as possible in the economic organisation of the League, and declared that it was the unanimous recommendation of the Second Committee that the Council should give very special attention to this important question of the representation of agriculture. There is further a need for the representation of Asia. We believe that the claim of India has since been recognised.

WORK OF THE HEALTH ORGANISATION.

36. Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar had indicated in his speech in the Assembly, of which we have already given a summary, that the Health activities of the League had a special interest for India. It was, therefore, a very appropriate compliment to India and to the Indian Delegation that he was elected Rapporteur for the general work of the Health Organisation. The report which he presented, first to the Health Committee and later to the Assembly, and his remarks in connection with it, will be reproduced in our Final Report. It will suffice to say here that, in the resolution which he submitted to the Second Committee, and which was in turn submitted by the Second Committee to the Assembly and approved, the Indian point of view was explicitly recognised. In the report note was made of the tendency towards universality in the work of the Health Organisation and of the circumstance that the activities of the Singapore Bureau form the chief physical link between Eastern countries and the League Organisation. The report stated further that those countries, some of whom like India are large contributors to the general budget, appreciated this aspect of the League's work, as was evident from their close co-operation with it. It also referred to the interchange of Public Health officers which is being arranged to take place in India in the approaching winter, and of the possibility that the President of the Health Committee and the Director of the Health Section might be able to join the party. It referred also to the hope of the Government of India that the League's Malaria Commission might be able to visit India during the latter part of 1928. Reference was also made to the participation by Colonel Graham in the Health Committee's work and to the departmental Rabies Conference in which India was represented. It is particularly satisfactory to record that the necessity for an assurance of the permanence of the Singapore Bureau, and of its adequate financing, was emphasised.

37. The universality of this department of the League's activities was further marked this year by the initiation of health work in Latin America.

ALCOHOLISM.

38. At the Assembly of 1926 the delegations of Finland, Poland and Sweden submitted a proposal to the effect that the League of Nations should include the question of Alcoholism in the programme of its work. Consideration of this proposal was adjourned until the Eighth Assembly. Meanwhile, the Foreign Ministers of Finland, Poland and Sweden, with whom were also associated the Foreign Ministers of Belgium, Denmark and Czecho-Slovakia, had sent in a memorandum giving a more precise description of what they had in mind. This memorandum contained two definite proposals: (1) that the Assembly should request the Council to convene a conference with a view to the framing of a general International Convention regulating the smuggling of alcohol, and (2) that the Assembly should request the Council to appoint an Advisory Committee on Alcoholism, or a Sub-Committee of the Health Committee to deal with Alcoholism, which the various organs of the League might consult when studying questions connected with the problem and which might be generally available for information or investigations.

39. Although these were the specific proposals which the Committee had primarily to discuss, their presentation raised a general question of some importance, because, except in the isolated cases of the Mandated Territories and the Protection of Women and Children, the League had not hitherto had occasion to touch the subject of Alcoholism, and it was felt in various quarters that the general subject would be an unsuitable, and even dangerous, one for the League to take up.

40. As soon as the question was raised in the Committee the delegation responsible for its promotion was challenged as to its admissibility under the Articles of the Covenant. In reply paras. (c) and (f) of Article 23 were quoted, referring respectively to the Traffic in Opium and other Dangerous Drugs and to the Prevention and Control of Disease. A considerable debate followed and the weight of opinion in the Committee was against acceptance of the proposal in the form in which it was presented. No general agreement was reached as to the admissibility of Alcoholism under the Covenant, but it seemed to be recognised by all that, whether or not a subject was admissible under the Covenant, it might be taken up by the League with the consent of all the States Members. Eventually the Finnish delegate and those associated with him agreed not to pursue the proposals in their existing form, but declared their intention of bringing up the question of Alcoholism later in another form. Accordingly at one of the final sessions of the Assembly an application was made for the subject to be placed in a new form on the agenda of the Ninth Assembly.

41. As to the position taken up in the debate by the Indian Delegation, our instructions were to oppose the proposal for the creation of a new Advisory Body for Alcoholism, on the grounds that no case had been made out for the necessity of such a body, as there were other sources from which advice and information could be obtained, and that it was undesirable, from the general, and especially the financial, point of view, to sanction the creation of a new body except for imperative reasons. But we had been given discretion as to the attitude we should adopt towards the proposal for a conference on smuggling. Intervening in the debate, Sir Fazl-i-Husain stated that opinion in India in regard to Alcoholism was very strong and decidedly in favour of a policy of controlling the supply of liquor, while there was a strong body of public opinion actually in favour of prohibition. If prohibition had not yet been adopted in India it was chiefly for the reason that it would be so difficult to enforce it. He said that Alcoholism was treated in India as an evil, although it was not yet a very serious problem there. But, as elsewhere, it tended to spread with the growth of industrialism. In regard to the question whether Alcoholism should be dealt with as an international matter, he wished to reserve his opinion, but he recognised the existence in the Committee of a strong body of opinion against the proposals, and he found himself in complete agreement with those who maintained that in this debate the case for the proposals had not been made out. He felt that it would be wiser that those who supported the proposals should not pursue them further for the present, but should wait for a more appropriate occasion. He urged those in favour of them to realise that the result of a division might be prejudicial to the cause which they had at heart.

INTELLECTUAL CO-OPERATION.

42. This Organisation consists of (1) a League Committee formed on the initiative of the French to carry out a resolution of the First Assembly on "the educational influence which it is the duty of the Council to exert with a view to developing a liberal spirit of goodwill and worldwide co-operation," and (2) an Institute which was founded in Paris some years later, at the expense of the French Government, to act as the executive organ of the Committee. The Indian Delegation has always been sympathetic in its attitude to this Organisation, and India is represented on the Committee by Sir Jagadis Bose.

43. It would be impossible to describe briefly the numerous activities of a scientific, artistic and literary nature which the Organisation at present has in hand. The resolution which was adopted by the Assembly this year refers to projects for the creation of an international co-ordination service of information offices attached to libraries, for co-ordination between the organs of bibliography for the various sciences, for an international office for annual tables of constants and mathematical quantities, for a congress on popular arts, for an international agreement with regard to casts, and for an extension of the work of museums as a means of artistic education.

44. When the work of this Organisation was under discussion in the Second Committee, Sir Fazl-i-Husain made a speech in which he said it was impossible to overestimate this work in the scheme of League activities, for in his opinion the disarmament of ideas, which was in fact the breaking of the barriers of prejudice, was no less important than Disarmament strictly so called. He paid a tribute of appreciation and admiration to those who had served on the Committee and to the beneficial character, both for all Members of the League and for non-members as well, of the various schemes which were in hand. It seemed to him that the work might possibly gain in its character of universality if kindred fields of work in the Orient were included within its scope, and he mentioned Indian and Mesopotamian archæology as being at least comparable with that of Europe. The term "international" was not limited in any way to the nations of Europe, and the evolution of international culture should afford every opportunity for the culture of the East to contribute towards it equally with that of the West. He finally appealed to the authorities of the Organisation to consider means of ensuring that what was best in the culture of the Orient should be reflected in the texture of the international culture of the future. His remarks were afterwards referred to with sympathy and approval by the delegates of Great Britain and Germany.

45. The Assembly, in the resolution which it adopted, expressed its appreciation of the increase in the number and activity of the national committees on Intellectual Co-operation, and stated that the regular co-operation between well-organised national committees and the International Committee was of everincreasing utility to the work of Intellectual Co-operation. The Assembly accordingly invited States which had not already done so to consider the possibility of providing the necessary funds to meet the expenses of their respective national committees. We understand that the League was informed in 1925, as regards India, that the Inter-University Board wished to be recognised as an institution with which the Intellectual Co-operation Committee might correspond with a view to the formation of a national committee in India. But, so far as we know, no progress has been made in this direction. We therefore venture to bring to notice suggestions which have been made by Sir Fazl-i-Husain, who, as already mentioned, acted as the Indian representative on this subject, and who is much impressed with the belief that India might derive great benefit from contact with this Organisation. His view is that, education being a transferred Provincial subject, there is need of a central agency to disseminate information to the various Provinces such as existed until a few years ago in the All-India Advisory Board on Education. He considers that there should be the same liaison between the intellectual activities of the Indian Provinces as the Intellectual Co-operation Organisation serves to create under the League between those of the different nations. Such an institution would enable India both to derive benefit from the international movement and to contribute to its success.

46. Two years ago there was set up, under the Organisation for Intellectual Co-operation, a Sub-Committee of Experts for the instruction of children and youth in the existence and aims of the League of Nations. Its Interim Report came before the Assembly of 1926, and it had since held further meetings and had drawn up a more comprehensive Report which was submitted to the Eighth Assembly. The Indian point of view has been represented on this Sub-Committee by Mr. S. N. Chaturvedi. The Interim Report has already been under the Government of India's consideration and we were informed that the Government of India were in general agreement with the recommendations, save that on several points modifications would be necessary to suit the present educational conditions of India. We were further informed that, as education was a Provincial subject, action would have to be taken by Local Governments responsible to their Legislatures and by Universities which are partially autonomous bodies. Unfortunately, this information reached us after the discussion of the subject in the Second Committee was finished. We venture to express the hope that the later and more comprehensive Report of the Sub-Committee will be examined in India with every desire to carry out its recommendations as far as possible, because we believe that the purpose of these recommendations must be considered of first class importance by all who recognise the necessity for consolidating the principles on which the League is founded. Incidentally, we would call attention to one recommendation of the Sub-Committee proposing the establishment of a corps of international lecturers, with special reference to countries where geographical or other consideration render League instruction particularly difficult. We understand that the circumstances of India were specially present to the Sub-Committee when this recommendation was proposed to it and adopted. For financial reasons consideration of this recommendation has been deferred.

CREATION OF AN EDUCATIONAL CINEMATOGRAPHICAL INSTITUTE.

47. The Italian Delegation submitted for the approval of the Assembly an offer on the part of the Italian Government to create at Rome an International Educational Cinematographical Institute. This Institute would be under the direction of the League of Nations, but would be carried on at the expense of the Italian Government, and established in a palace offered by that Government. The proposal was referred to the Second Committee, which dealt with it in connection with Intellectual Co-operation. Some anxiety was felt in regard to it by those who chiefly espouse the cause of the Institute of Intellectual Co-operation in Paris, which had already given some consideration to cinematography. It was obviously necessary to avoid any possibility of duplication or conflict between two League bodies, and it was further desirable to establish safeguards in regard to an institution which would be in a special relation to a particular national Government and would have as its object the guidance or inspiration, in the name of the League, of the policy of other Governments in a branch which is likely to be of increasing importance of such a subject as education. A Sub-Committee was appointed to reconcile the divergent opinions, and Sir Fazl-i-Husain served on this Sub-Committee. The Sub-Committee agreed upon a formula eventually approved by the Second Committee and by the Assembly, which acknowledged with gratitude the generous offer of the Italian Government, and left the decision as to the steps to be taken to the Council of the League, after consultation with the competent organisations, more particularly the International Committee on Intellectual Co-operation, and in agreement with the Italian Government. It is understood that the Second Committee will have a further opportunity of discussing the subject in detail next year.

48. It was in consequence of this discussion that the Hon'ble Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton, of the British Delegation, submitted to the Assembly a proposal that the general question of the relations between the League of Nations and institutes or bodies set up under its authority but not forming part of its organisation should be studied, and that the principles which should govern their acceptance by the League should be laid down by the Council. The Second Committee examined this proposal, and on its recommendation the Assembly invited the Council to have the question studied, and asked that a report should be submitted to next year's Assembly.

ECONOMIC COMMITTEE.

49. This Committee has hitherto dealt with a number of matters of a severely technical character, and of somewhat second class importance. As a result of the resolution which we have already described in the Report of the Economic Conference, these activities are in future to be broadened, and the Committee will have a certain measure of responsibility in regard to the first class questions of economics, including, above all, the question of tariffs. During the last year the normal activities of the Committee have been subordinated to those connected with the Economic Conference, and some of the subjects under consideration, for instance, the abolition of import and export prohibitions and restrictions, became merged in the agenda of the Conference. It has, however, continued to do useful work, and one subject which requires to be mentioned here is the draft Protocol on the execution of foreign arbitral awards.

50. A Protocol on commercial arbitration was adopted at the Fourth Assembly recognising the universal validity as between Signatory States of clauses for the settlement of disputes by arbitration, which are voluntarily inserted in commercial contracts between the nationals of different countries. This Protocol has been ratified on behalf of Great Britain and various parts of the British Empire, and a considerable number of foreign countries, but not by India. On the whole, the number of accessions has been considered disappointing, and this is believed to be due to the absence of any arrangements for the execution of arbitral awards. The Economic Committee has further been engaged in drawing up provisions to supplement the Protocol in this respect, and the result of their labours came before the Eighth Assembly in the form of a draft supplementary Protocol for the execution of awards. The Second Committee, to whom this draft was referred, determined to refer it, together with the comments and observations of various Governments, to a Sub-Committee of legal experts for final preparation. A member of our Delegation, Sir Edward Chamier, served on this Sub-Committee, and his knowledge of the British and Indian system of law was of great value in ensuring that the protocol was not modified to meet the requirements of Continental law in such a manner as to make it unacceptable to countries in which the other system prevails. The new Convention (the Protocol form having been replaced by that of a Convention) is now open for signature, together with the original Instrument, and we understand that the Government of India will be prepared to consider adhesion to the two Instruments taken together. We understand that this Convention which, owing to its highly technical character, did not receive much general attention, may be ranked among the most solid achievements of the Eighth Assembly.

51. Sir Fazl-i-Husain spoke in the debate in the Second Committee on the work of the Economic Committee, and congratulated the Economic Committee on a good year's work in spite of the fact that its activities had been naturally overshadowed by the Economic Conference. With reference to the approaching conference for the abolition of import and export prohibitions and restrictions, he said that India welcomed this conference because, like other such conferences, it would contribute to the mutual understanding which followed a frank examination of circumstances. He stated that India was prepared to incur responsibilities which others were ready to incur, to the same extent and simultaneously, and that it was on reciprocity that a country in the position of India was bound to rely. With regard to the subject of the treatment of foreign nationals and enterprises he called attention to a defect in the draft resolution, and proposed an addition which was accepted. He stated the position of India with regard to the Protocol on commercial arbitration and expressed the view that the objection which had hitherto been taken to this Protocol on the part of India might be withdrawn when it and the Convention which was being drawn up on the execution of awards came to be considered together. On the subject of economic statistics he agreed that there could be no two opinions as to the desirability of unification, but he pointed out that the statistics which were desired might not be always available, and that their collection might be so costly that some States would not feel justified in incurring the requisite expenditure. He stated, finally, that the importance of economic barometers could not be over estimated. The economic barometer of the future would have to be one which was extremely sensitive and delicate, and which served for all countries, all climes and all continents. He thought that the work was one which in its universality was an ideal work for the League to accomplish.

FINANCIAL COMMITTEE.

52. This Committee has hitherto played a more prominent rôle than that of its twin organisation, the Economic Committee, but the result of the resolution adopted by the Assembly in regard to the Economic Conference will no doubt be to adjust this disparity. The principal tasks of the Financial Committee have been the restoration of the Austrain and Hungarian currencies and a number of other financial measures of almost equal importance, such as those in connection with Danzig and Estonia, and the financial supervision of the settlement of Greek and Bulgarian refugees. Probably the League has not up to date made any contribution to the general cause of peace and prosperity greater than those which are covered by these headings. These important and valuable works have been mainly of interest to Europe, but another problem which has been under the consideration of the Financial Committee, viz., that of double taxation and fiscal evasion, is of more general application. The latter questions have now reached a stage at which four draft Conventions have been drawn up after long and exhaustive technical examination, and have been circulated to Governments for consideration.

53. The Committee has also made much progress with an interesting new scheme, which is believed to contain great possibilities. This is a scheme for the financial assistance of States which may be the victims of aggression. It arises from proposals submitted by the Finnish Delegation to the Preparatory Commission for the Disarmament Conference, and its importance lies in the fact that it is a concrete application of the principle of Article 16 of the Covenant, which provides in principle that Members of the League who are attacked by another State should receive economic and financial assistance from other Members. The project had only been circulated a short time before the Assembly, and many Governments, including the Government of India, had not had an opportunity of examining it and formulating their attitude. In these circumstances the Assembly could not do more than recommend it for further favourable consideration in the light of the views of Governments, when these have been collected. The British Delegation welcomed the scheme, and undertook to co-operate in it on the understanding that it formed part of a general settlement of the Disarmament problem. This scheme is referred to further in paragraph 59.

54. Sir Fazl-i-Husain spoke in the course of the debate in the Second Committee on the work of the Financial Committee. He referred to the valuable work which the Committee had done in enabling countries which were suffering from acute financial crises to stabilise their currency and to effect budget equilibrium, and to obtain through the credit and prestige of the League necessary loans at a lower rate of interest than would have been possible otherwise. Help given in this way was, he said, help to individual countries, and in countries outside Europe there was a section of the public which was disposed to emphasise the fact that the beneficent work of the League was limited to a certain tract in Europe, and was therefore not international in the larger sense of the term. As a rule it was only delegates from countries directly affected by the work of the Financial Committee who took part in this debate, and he felt obliged, as a delegate from a country which could not be included in this description, to meet the criticism which he had indicated. This work showed emphatically that the League was not a body of talkers, and it proved how effectively the League could deal with practical problems. He rejoiced in this work because it enabled the League to consolidate its position, and he was sure that if requests similar to those which had come from Austria, Hungary and other countries were to come from another continent they would receive the same sympathetic consideration as was extended to the European countries.

ORGANISATION FOR COMMUNICATIONS AND TRANSIT.

55. Apart from the general Conventions drawn up at the First and Second General Conferences of this Organisation at Barcelona and Geneva in regard to questions of navigation and maritime ports, etc., the activities of the Organisation have been almost entirely confined to Europe, including such questions as navigation of the Danube and the international railway services. The Assembly Resolution of 1926 had expressed a hope that the Third General Conference would consider the question of improving, as far as possible, technical liaison between the work of the Organisation and the specialised administrations and experts of non-European countries. The Third General Conference was held at Geneva just before the Eighth Assembly, and it adopted a new constitution which is designed to facilitate the representation and participation of distant countries.

56. We had the advantage of being represented in the Second Committee, when the report of the Third General Conference was under discussion, by Sir C. P Ramaswami Ayyar, who had been the delegate of India at the Conference, and who was therefore acquainted with the work of the Organisation and with its plans for the future. In recognition of the fact that the Organisation was endeavouring to broaden its hitherto somewhat restricted activities, Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar spoke in the Second Committee and said that the labours of the Third Conference had marked a great advance towards the mutual understanding of national and international problems. He noted the fact that States which were not Members of the League, such as the United States of America and Egypt, and also powerful organisations like the International Chamber of Commerce, had co-operated. He referred to the proposal which had been adopted in regard to the application of a system of identity certificates in lieu of national passports to persons who were without nationality or whose nationality could not be ascertained, and was glad that this scheme had been adopted in a form which tended to obviate the objections which had been felt by certain countries. The decision on these proposals was in the form of a recommendation, and not of a resolution binding upon Governments. With regard to the proposals for the collection and exchange of information on communications he was glad that the Conference had dispelled the fears which were entertained at one time that a special organisation of considerable size charged with new work was going to be created. The scheme as it left the Conference had been restricted to the collection of information of a non-confidential character which was already at the disposal of Governments, and the provision of which would involve Governments in no additional expense. It may be noted, however, that when this scheme came before the Fourth Committee for approval of a supplementary estimate of the League budget, the Fourth Committee took the view, in which the Indian delegate concurred, that, desirable as the collection of this information might be, the work was of less urgency and necessity than other tasks for which supplementary estimates were demanded, and it therefore decided by a majority vote not to approve the supplementary estimate. It may be observed that, since the General Conference, and under the new constitution of the Organisation which was approved at the Conference, the interests of Asia in the work of the Organisation have been recognised by the appointment of a Siamese member to the Advisory and Technical Committee.

COMMITTEE III.— Arbitration, Security and Reduction of Armaments.

57. In addition to the material describing the preparatory work during the last 12 months for the Disarmament Conference, which included various studies of legal questions in regard to security arising out of the Covenant, the Third Committee had before it the Dutch proposal for the further study of the principles of arbitration, security and disarmament, and the Polish proposal for the prohibition of all wars of aggression, both of which had been referred to it by the Assembly. Further proposals, which will be referred to shortly, were introduced in the course of the discussions of the Committee by the French, German, Belgian, Norwegian and Finnish Delegations. The Committee had thus to deal with a bewildering, and to some extent conflicting, mass of material, and it was no small achievement to produce from this a series of propositions which were coherent, lucid and of great value. The Committee held 11 meetings, each of which lasted for several hours.

LORD LYTTON'S SPEECH.

58. Speaking towards the end of the general discussion in the Third Committee, Lord Lytton described the position of India. He said that India was less intimately concerned with the subject of the debate than other countries whose delegates had taken a prominent part in it. The army maintained in India for internal security and for the defence of its land frontiers had been considerably reduced in recent years. The task upon which it was engaged was different from that which most delegates had in mind when they spoke of war and the alternatives to war. The majority of the Members of the League were nations whose armaments existed to deal with a contingency which they believed to be remote and they hoped would never arise. India, on the cotrary, had on her frontiers tribes whose traditions and instincts and habits of life were those of war; not war as a resort to force as a final measure after all the resources of diplomacy had been exhausted, but war in a more primitive sense as an almost daily occupation and as a profession of brigandage. With such neighbours the securities which the League had to offer could be of no value. He therefore addressed the Committee rather as a sincere believer in the value of the League than as a delegate of a country which derived any special advantage from the security offered by the League. He had been struck by the value which speakers seemed to attach to the re-affirmation of principles which had already been accepted not merely as ideals but as practical obligations. The danger was not that the principles of the League should be forgotten, but that they should come to be regarded as no more than formulæ or counsels of perfection which belonged to the region of ideals rather than to the practice of States. He said it was the business of the Committee not merely to dream of disarmament, or to re-affirm general principles, but to work out their practical application in a world of realities. Some were inclined to insist on the need for action, others on the difficulties of action; both lines of thought were helpful. It was the public opinion of the world which was the motive force of the League; some currents of opinion might appear to be opposed to their wishes or ends; they could not be ignored, and it was impossible to go against them, but by tacking either to the right or to the left it might be possible to make even those currents serve for progress towards the goal. It was a question in that Committee not of defining the goal, but of finding means of approaching it. If one means proved abortive, another must be sought. If one conference on disarmament failed, it was better to explore the causes of its failure than to bewail the fact. The task of the League was to improve, if possible, the machinery of arbitration, to make that method of settling disputes more attractive to the nations of the world, to increase, if possible, the security which could be afforded against aggression and so to make possible that progressive disarmament which every country desired for its well-being and development.

DEBATE IN COMMITTEE

59. The French Delegation submitted a draft resolution recommending the conclusion of arbitration agreements between States in order to create the mutual confidence which was indispensable to the effective continuance of the work of the Preparatory Committee; secondly, requesting the Council to direct that Committee to study simultaneously with the preparation of a draft Convention for the limitation and reduction of armaments, measures calculated to give all States such guarantees of security as would enable them to reduce their armaments to the lowest possible figure in their proposals at the Conference; and thirdly, expressing the opinion that such measures would be found in special security agreements, and a modification of the provisions of the Protocol of 1924 in the direction of greater elasticity which would enable States to graduate their commitments according to the relations existing between themselves and other States. The German Delegation, with reference to the suggestion that the Preparatory Committee should not continue its work until further international security had been attained, observed that Germany and certain other States had already been disarmed, and urged that the Conference should be held on the basis of the existing conditions of security. Count Bernstorff proposed that the Preparatory Committee should be urged to complete its work as soon as possible and thus enable the Council to convene the Disarmament Conference before the next ordinary session of the Assembly. The Dutch, French and German proposals were referred to a Sub-Committee which threw them into the form of a single draft resolution. Two noticeable modifications were introduced. As drafted by the Sub-Committee the resolution provides for the appointment of a Special Committee to study measures relating to guarantees of security instead of leaving this to the Preparatory Committee and suggests that one of those measures might consist in invitations from the Council to the several States to inform it of the measures which they would be prepared to take to support the Council's decision in the event of a conflict breaking out in a given region. After some discussion as to the meaning of the second alteration, the draft of the Sub-Committee was in substance approved by the Third Committee. It was specially made clear that it was for the individual States in their replies to indicate what, if any, was the "given region" in which they would be prepared to take measures to support a decision of the Council. The Belgian Delegation drew attention to the difficulty of limiting air armaments without interfering with civil aviation and to the recommendations of the Preparatory Committee on this subject, and proposed a Resolution to the effect that it was desirable that the development of civil aviation should be directed solely towards economic ends, to the exclusion of military considerations. This proposal was approved. The Norwegian Delegation proposed the opening of an optional Convention for obligatory arbitration of disputes. After a reference to the First Committee it was decided that the subject should be considered by the Preparatory Committee on Disarmament. Lastly, the Third Committee accepted a resolution proposed by the Finnish Delegation on the subject of giving financial assistance to a State which might be the victim of aggression. Lord Lytton stated that he had had no instructions regarding this proposal, and made it clear that by voting for the resolution he would not commit the Government of India to any financial liability. It was stated in reply to Lord Lytton that in accepting the resolution the Assembly would only be authorising further study of the scheme.

60. At the close of its proceedings the Third Committee submitted to the Assembly a series of five resolutions dealing comprehensively with the Dutch, French, German, Norwegian, Belgian and Finnish proposals, also with reports of the Council regarding the methods to be employed in order to enforce the obligations of the Covenant as expeditiously as possible and the working of the organs of the League in times of emergency. The resolutions were in due course approved by the Assembly.

SUMMARY OF RESOLUTION ON DISARMAMENT.

61. The leading features of the fifth and most important of these resolutions, which deals with the Preparatory Committee for the Disarmament Conference, are briefly as follows: It records a conviction that the principal condition of success in the work of disarmament is "that every State should be sure of not having to provide unaided for its security by means of its own armaments, and should be able to rely also on the organised collective action of the League of Nations." It asks for the completion of the technical work of the Preparatory Committee to be hastened, and for the Conference on the limitation and reduction of armaments to be convened immediately this work has been completed. This meets the view of the German Delegation that disarmament is possile and should be proceeded with under existing conditions of security. At the same time, to meet the view that increased security must be found, the resolution requests that the Preparatory Committee should be authorised to create without delay a Committee whose duty would be to consider, on the lines indicated by the Preparatory Committee, "the measures capable of giving to States the guarantees of arbitration and security necessary to enable them to fix the level of their armaments at the lowest possible figures in an international disarmament agreement." The resolution goes on to indicate that these measures should be sought in a variety of ways, and in enumerating these ways it advocates the principle of regional agreements, of which the Locarno Treaties are the type. These agreements are described as those " which the States Members of the League may conclude among themselves, irrespective of their obligations under the Covenant, with a view to making their commitments proportionate to the degree of solidarity of a geographical or other nature existing between themselves and other States." The resolution concludes with the idea to which we have already referred that the Council should invite the several States to inform it " of the measures which they would be prepared to take, irrespective of their obligations under the Covenant, to support the Council's decisions or recommendations in the event of a conflict breaking out in a given region."

PRIVATE MANUFACTURE OF ARMS AND PUBLICITY OF THE MANUFACTURE OF ARMS, AMMUNITION AND IMPLEMENTS OF WAR.

62. The Assembly passed a resolution on this subject last year and acting on that the Council referred the dratt Convention which had been drawn up to a Special Committee with instructions to prepare a final dratt which might serve as a basis for an International Conference. The Special Committee met in March 1927 and prepared a report which showed that there were fundamental differences of opinion between the members. Several speakers referred to the subject in the Third Committee. The Committee appeared to be unanimous in thinking that a solution of the problem was indispensable in connection with the question of disarmament. The majority seemed to be inclined to the view that the private manufacture of arms must be dealt with in a manner different from that provided for State manufacture. The Third Committee proposed, and the Assembly approved, a resolution re-affirming the great importance of the subject and suggesting a Convention providing for the superintendence of the private manufacture of arms and for publicity with regard to the manufacture of arms either by a State or by a private person or firm.

COMMITTEE IV.—Financial Questions.

THE LEAGUE BUDGET.

63. Those who remember the Report of the Indian Delegation at the last Assembly will be aware that the Assembly approved a Resolution of the Fourth Committee which was moved by Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, the Indian delegate on that Committee, to the effect that it was desirable, without putting obstacles in the way of the development of the League, to keep in view a maximum limit of expenditure with the object of securing that the contributions of individual States should not normally in future exceed their contributions for that year. It was naturally the object of the Indian Delegation this year to remind the Fourth Committee and the Assembly of this Resolution and to secure as far as possible that this principle was not disregarded.

64. In the budget which was presented to this year's Assembly, the total estimates for 1928 were placed at 24,879,622 francs, the real increase of expenditure on the basis of these estimates as compared with the budget approved for 1927 being about 100,000 francs. The estimates for the Secretariat and the Permanent Court of International Justice taken together showed a small decrease, and the increase of the total was caused by an increase in the estimates for the International Labour Organisation. It had been stated, on the authority of the Secretary-General, that although the gross expenditure contemplated for 1928 was greater than that for 1927, the net burden on each Member of the League would not in all probability be heavier in view of the distribution among the Members of the League of the greater part of the surplus for 1926. This statement was welcome to us as showing incidentally the effect of the Indian Delegation's Resolution last year, but we had to take into account (1) the normal practice of bringing Supplementary Estimates of considerable amounts before the Assembly, (2) the possible retirement of Spain and Brazil next year, and (3) the possibility of a considerable charge falling upon the League of Nations in two or three years' time in respect of the Singapore Bureau (a matter of great interest to India), when the Rockefeller contributions, by which the Bureau is chiefly supported at present, come to an end. The retirement of Spain and Brazil next year has still to be reckoned with. We have hopes that the financing of the Singapore Bureau for a considerable further period may be assured without heavy additional charges falling upon the League. In regard to Supplementary Estimates, a serious position was revealed. Supplementary Estimates of nearly 1,000,000 francs were submitted by the League authorities to the Supervisory Commission, and after pruning by the Supervisory Commission, were presented to the Fourth Committee to the amount of over 600,000 francs. These, it was understood, would increase the unit of contribution (the number of units for which India is responsible being 56) by well over 1,000 francs after all off-sets have been allowed for. The task of trying to effect reductions was, therefore, incumbent upon those delegations, including our own, who are actuated by motives of economy in practice as well as in principle.

65. The general debate on the budget was opened by the British delegate, Sir Edward Hilton Young, who was followed by Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar. The latter said that his Resolution of last year had been put forward not only from purely economic considerations, but also to ensure that States that were far removed from the immediate scene of the labours of the League might be assured that its work was of as comprehensive and universal a character as possible. New commitments entered into should be considered with reference to what would happen not only during the year under review, but in future years. He also referred to the importance of applying a Resolution passed by a previous Assembly to the effect that special investigations made in the interest of one or more Members of the League should be paid for by those Members, and he urged that when States which were not Members of the League took part in Conferences organised by the League those States should be expected to pay their fair share of the expenses of such Conferences. He also referred to the necessity for regulating the publications of the League as far as possible on a sound commercial basis, and suggested that agents should be appointed in distant countries with a view to the dissemination of those publications. In the course of the subsequent debate on the details of the budget he raised various points of detail, as, for instance, in regard to the financing of the Singapore Bureau, in regard to the estimate presented for the settlement of disputes under the Transit Organisation, and as to the proposal to authorise the Transit Organisation to collect information on the subject of communications. He served as a member of a Sub-Committee to deal with a proposal for the formation of an administrative tribunal to settle any point which might arise in connection with the contracts under which members of the staff of the Secretariat and International Labour Office are serving. He was also selected to serve as one of the members of the Fourth Committee deputed to confer with members of the First Committee in regard to the proposals for the Codification of International Law.

66. Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar's remarks are reflected, together with those of other delegates, in the Report of the Fourth Committee. This Report indicates that the expenditure of the League was not increasing in proportion to the new tasks entrusted to the League and to the increased work thereby involved for the various organs of the League. So far as figures are a reliable guide, the amount of work done by the staff has grown considerably in recent years. If the Assembly decided to entrust new tasks to the Secretariat, it was necessary either to increase the budget or to suspend temporarily some part of the normal duties of the Secretariat. The Report indicates a view that if the expenditure of the League is not to be developed indefinitely, the League will sooner or later be obliged to impose limits on requests for further expenditure, and it is suggested that the Assembly might at some time be invited to appoint a small body to deal with further proposals for expenditure, and to examine the order in which new tasks entrusted to the League should be undertaken. The Report also states that the Publications Department is being re-organised, with a view to placing its operations upon a more commercial basis, and that a considerably larger amount in respect of receipts from the sales of publications was anticipated in the near future.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES AND FINANCIAL CONTROL.

67. On the subject of Supplementary Estimates a long and arduous debate took place. This debate revealed in the Fourth Committee a real and earnest desire for economy, although it may be open to question whether this desire was fully implemented. At the same time it indicated unmistakably the peculiar difficulties of financial control in the unique circumstances of the League, which arise from the absence of an executive authority with power to determine the priority in which proposals involving expenditure should be undertaken. The Indian Delegation, together with the British Delegation, followed the policy of supporting the authority of the Supervisory Commission, which is the most effective organ for financial control in the League's possession, and for the creation of which, it may be remembered, a past Indian Delegation was largely responsible. This Commission, of which Lord Meston is a member, scrutinises in the most thorough and efficient manner the financial provision for the measures which the League has in hand or decides to take in hand, but it lacks the ultimate power of selection among those measures. It is, in our view, very desirable, if not necessary, that in the near future the Assembly should find some means of satisfying the principle, which is an essential part of the financial procedure of national Governments. Serious warnings were expressed in the Fourth Committee as to the tendencies which are at present evident, and which, though they could not fairly at present be said to be out of control, may at any time lead to serious results unless the financial initiative can be somehow limited. It should not, however, be supposed that the sum total of League expenditure at present is anything but moderate, having regard to the importance and responsibilities of the League.

68. Our remarks may be illustrated by the discussions which took place on two supplementary demands, one for a sum to enable the Transit Section to collect information on the subject of communications, and the other for the expenses of the work of codifying international law. The first arose from a recommendation of the Third General Conference on Transit and Communications, which had been approved by the Second Committee, and a demand had been presented for 40,000 francs to proceed with the work during 1928. The debate on this demand ranged as much over questions of principle relating to the status and authority of the Supervisory Commission, as over the actual desirability of the proposed services, which few delegates desired to question. Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar said that although he had as a delegate at the Third General Conference and as a Member of the Second Committee supported the project for which this demand was made, he felt obliged, in view of the gravity of the financial situation, and of the necessity for making some selection among the services for which supplementary credits were asked, to vote against the credit in the Fourth Committee. Eventually the estimate was rejected by a majority vote, but after further negotiations with the Second Committee, it was agreed that the Secretariat should continue the work already begun, so far as might be possible without the additional credit, and a hope was expressed that the credit in question might appear in the Budget of 1929.

69. In the second case the Supervisory Commission had accepted a supplementary estimate for 80,000 francs for the preparatory work necessary to enable International Conference to be held in 1929 to attempt the codification of international law on certain subjects (see paragraph 26 above), but, in order to avoid serious additional expenditure, it had proposed to compensate for the admission of the supplementary item by deleting a provision of 75,000 francs in the original budget to enable the Committee of Experts on this subject to continue its work. The view of the Supervisory Commission was supported by a majority vote of the Fourth Committee, but it was agreed that any part of the sum allotted for the preparation for the Conference which might not actually be found to be necessary for that purpose might be used for a further meeting of the Committee of Experts. In spite of this decision, and in spite of the fact that the First Committee, to whom the decision was communicated, had raised no objection, the matter was brought up again in the Assembly, where the recommendation of the Fourth Committee was rejected by a small majority. The Fourth Committee was asked to consider the matter again with a view to reaching the necessary unanimity, and a debate took place which lasted until after midnight. In the course of this debate, Sir Fazl-i-Husain said he thought no one had disputed the fact that the work of the Committee of Experts was of great value to the League of Nations. The former decision of the Fourth Committee did not involve the interruption of this work, and it was only a question of the pace at which it would proceed. The South American countries claimed that this credit should not be refused, on the ground that the work of codifying international law was one of the few activities of the League in which they were directly interested, but he asked that the Committee should take an equal interest in the position of certain other countries who paid their annual contribution, but perhaps derived even less direct benefit from the work of the League than the South American countries. Notwithstanding the fact that the direct benefit to them of the work of the League was comparatively small, these other countries readily voted various credits for humanitarian work which did not benefit them; but he said that it was important that the Committee should realise that the continual increase in the unit of contribution might reach the point of becoming intolerable, and each addition would possibly prove to be the last straw which broke the camel's back. After Sir Fazl-i-Husain had spoken, a solution was proposed by which, although the budget provision was not increased, those who wished to ensure a further meeting of the Committee of Experts in 1928 were given reason to expect that sufficient funds would be found by transfer from another head of the budget if necessary. This solution was accepted by the Fourth Committee and later by the Assembly with the necessary unanimity.

70. The debate on these two matters attracted very considerable notice, and we believe that, apart from the decisions reached on the particular issues, they will exercise a salutary influence on the general tendency of the financial policy of the League. The result of the debate on Supplementary Estimates was to raise the total budget to 25,333,817 francs. The net contribution of India for 1928 will be about £51,400 as compared with about £50,150 for 1927.

ALLOCATION OF EXPENSES.

80. Two years ago a provincial scale was adopted for the allocation of the expenses of the League between the States Members, which was to last for three years, and was due to come up for further consideration at the Assembly of 1928. The budget for 1928 included an estimate to provide for a meeting this winter of the Standing Committee on Allocation of Expenses, so that new proposals might be brought before the next Assembly. When this estimate came before the Fourth Committee, M. Reveillaud, the French delegate, who is Chairman of the Allocation Committee, said that, after considering the economic conditions of the various countries, he had come to the conclusion that the general economic situation of the world would not be sufficiently stable, at any rate for some years to come, to permit of any satisfactory permanent settlement of this question in the immediate future. In these circumstances, he thought that there would be no object in holding a session of the Committee as had been intended, and accordingly he proposed a reduction of the estimate. The claims of India for a reduction of her share of the expenditure of the League have always been strongly pressed in the past. As it had not been anticipated that the matter would be raised this year, the Indian Delegation had no definite instructions and were not in a position to accept any arrangement under which the present scale would continue in force for a number of years. There was obviously nothing to be gained by insisting on a meeting of the Allocation Committee being held during the present winter, as the Fourth Committee was clearly impressed with M. Reveilhaud's arguments, which were, in fact, of a convincing nature. Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, on behalf of the Indian Delegation, confined himself to securing an understanding that the acceptance of the proposal to reduce the estimate did not restrict the liberty of the next Assembly to discuss the matter again.

Construction of New League of Nations Buildings.

81. For the earlier history of this matter reference is invited to the Report of the Indian Delegation to the Special Assembly of 1926. This Assembly had approved proposals for the construction of a new Assembly Hall and of new offices for the Secretariat and for the purchase of the building land. It had adopted a provisional estimate of nearly 17,000,000 francs, including a sum of 4,000,000 francs which is the guaranteed price for the sale of the building at present occupied by the Secretariat. A competition of architects has since been held, and as many as 377 designs were submitted. The Jury of Architects which examined these plans decided unanimously that the results of the competition did not justify it in recommending any one of the plans for execution. They decided to dispose of the prize money by giving nine equal prizes to the nine competitors whose designs appeared to them to be the best, and further smaller sums to 18 further designs, arranged in two classes of nine each, which were considered worthy of honourable mention. When the report of the Jury of Architects came before the Assembly a Committee of five members was appointed to consider the question and report back to the Assembly. This Committee reported that, after allowing for the purchase of land and other general expenses, and for interest on the cash balance actually in the League's possession, and for the guarnteed sale price of the present Secretariat building, there would be a sum of 15,400,000 francs available for building purposes. They thought that the sum available would not be sufficient to ensure that the new buildings would, without being actually luxurious, be satisfactory from the æsthetic as well as from the practical point of view, and they believed that it was necessary to contemplate an increase of the credit allotted to approximately 19,500,000 francs. On their recommendation the Assembly approved in principle that the sum to be spent on the new buildings should be increased to approximately this figure, on the understanding that the exact amount of the supplementary credit necessary would be submitted to the Assembly at its next session. The Committee further expressed the view that the ultimate choice of a plan should be made from among those which received the nine equal prizes, and it recommended that a small Committee should be appointed with full powers to choose, with any changes that might be necessary, the plan which in their opinion most nearly satisfied requirements. After some discussion in the Assembly these recommendations were approved, and the members who had served on the Committee which had made these recommendations were appointed to constitute the Committee which is to continue to deal with the question.

82. Before leaving this subject we ought to mention the munificent gift of $2,000,000 from Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jnr., for the construction and endowment of a new League of Nations Library. The Assembly naturally confirmed with gratitude the acceptance by the Council of this gift, the purpose of which can be adequately carried out with the certainty that no liabilities will in future be imposed on the Members of the League on account of its acceptance. This gift will render possible the formation and maintenance of a library on a much more extended scale than that which at present exists in the Secretariat or could otherwise be contemplated. It will greatly improve the facilities, of which there is an increasing need, for research work and for students.

COMMITTEE V.—Social and Humanitarian Questions.

Child Welfare.

83. Indian Delegations of the past two years have been somewhat concerned with the appearance of a tendency on the part of the Child Welfare Committee to take too wide a view of its proper sphere of operations. In 1925 the Maharaja of Patiala, and in 1926 the Maharaja of Kapurthala, considered it desirable to express apprehension as to the consequences that might result from any invasion of areas of purely domestic concern and from a policy of trying to apply indiscriminately ideas or criteria which for social or even religious reasons might not be universally applicable. This tendency had been noticed also by other observers, and the Committee had been advised by the Council of the League to " endeavour so to narrow the field of each particular enquiry as to produce results of practical value to Governments." At the Assembly of 1926, the Fifth Committee, in its report on this subject, appreciated the fact that practical considerations must sometimes limit the scope of international co-operation in this field, and they called attention to the caution expressed by the Maharaja of Kapurthala. During the last 12 months the Child Welfare Committee has appointed an Agenda Sub-Committee for the purpose of controlling the subjects treated, and this Sub-Committee may be considered to have done good work, although the necessity for confining activities in this field to ojects of international concern still requires to be watched. As the warnings previously expressed appeared to have had a salutary effect, and as the Report of the Committee, which was presented to this year's Assembly, contained nothing which called for criticism, the Indian Delegation was able to abstain from taking part in the discussion.

TRAFFIC IN WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

84. The most notable subject in this year's discussion was the report of the special body of experts which has been enquiring into this traffic. Only the first part of this report has been published, the second part having been communicated confidentially to the Governments concerned—of which the Government of India is not one—for such observations as they may wish to make. These observations are to be received shortly, and on their receipt the body of experts will meet again to consider them, after which the question will come before the Council of the League for a decision as to further action. The resolution adopted by the Assembly called attention to the problem of the relationship which, according to the conclusions of the special body of experts, exists between the licensed house and the traffic in women, and expressed a hope that the appropriate Committees would examine the question of the desirability of recommending to all Governments the abolition of the system of the licensed house.

85. The special body of experts has so far confined itself to America, Europe and the Near East. It has, however, reported that information in its possession tends to show that the international traffic is also met with in the Far East, and it acknowledges that, owing to differences of religion and custom, the problem in the Far East appears in a different aspect. The question of authorising the special body of experts to extend its enquiries beyond the areas already investigated has thus not yet arisen; but it may do so when their present task has been completed. In the circumstances, no question affecting India arose this year.

THE PRODUCTION OF OPIUM IN PERSIA.

86. At the Assembly of 1925 attention had been called to the absence of effective control at Persian ports over exports of opium, and the final Act of the Second International Opium Conference contained a recommendation that a Commission of Enquiry should be appointed to visit certain opium-producing countries. Accordingly, in pursuance of a recommendation of the Assembly of 1925, a Commission was appointed to be sent to Persia to study the existing situation with regard to the cultivation of the poppy and the replacement of a proportion of this cultivation with other crops. This Commission reported at the end of 1926, and its report came before the Assembly. The Commission considered that the Persian Government should make it an essential part of its programme to take definite steps looking to, and preparatory for, a gradual and systematic reduction of cultivation to begin three years from the promulgation of the programme. It believed that, after the preparatory period of three years, the Persian Government might safely undertake a reduction of 10 per cent. each year in the acreage allotted to the cultivation of the poppy, and it made a number of practical recommendations designed to facilitate this programme. The Persian Government has expressed its willingness to attempt to carry out the recommendations of the Commission, with some modification, but in doing so it has declared that the success of its programme will in large measure depend on its obtaining liberty of action in tariff affairs, and on the removal of the restrictive tariffs on Persian products which must be substituted for opium. The Assembly expressed its appreciation of the goodwill shown by the Persian Government, and hoped that the Governments concerned would give their earnest and favourable attention to the tariff conditions referred to by the Persian Government.

TRAFFIC IN OPIUM AND OTHER DANGEROUS DRUGS.

87. The Government of India have a representative on the Advisory Committee dealing with this subect in the person of Sir John Campbell, I.C.S. (retired), who is the present Chairman of the Committee. The work of the Committee in recent years has been principally concerned with the illicit traffic in manufactured drugs, viz., morphia and other derivatives of opium and cocaine. In these circumstances no controversial question in regard to opium arose.

88. The Report of the Advisory Committee called special attention to the gravity of the situation which exists in regard to the illicit traffic in drugs and the urgent necessity for action in the direction of control. The hope of adequate control resides chiefly in the bringing into operation of the Geneva Convention of 1925, for which a sufficient number of ratifications has not yet been received. The prospect of the Convention coming into force has not improved recently. The Report of the Advisory Committee, although approved without criticism, was received in the Fifth Committee with less attention than might have been expected. It appeared that there would be some advantage in directing attention to the necessity for action as publicly and emphatically as possible, and accordingly, when the Report of the Fifth Committee on this subject was presented to the Assembly, Lord Lytton made a speech.

89. He said that India was very much alive to the gravity of the drug problem, and looked to the League for help in regard to it. He wished the Assembly to realise the enormous extent of the illicit traffic in drugs, and the grave human import of that trade as revealed in the Report of the Advisory Committee. India, for instance, imported a small amount of cocaine for medical purposes, but the illicit traffic in cocaine in India was stated by the Committee to be as much as 40 times the legitimate imports, in spite of vigorous and efficient administrative efforts to suppress it. The figures of the illicit trade quoted by the Committee were startling, but even so, they scarcely conveyed their full human import. He went on to picture to the Assembly the intensity of human misery for which the drug evil was responsible, and he asked how, in face of such facts, there were Governments with the power to stop it which allowed it to continue. Yet 54 nations were parties to the Hague Convention which included as an obligation accepted by all the signatories a provision to enact laws and regulations to limit exclusively to medical and legitimate purposes the manufacture, sale and use of drugs, and with further provision for co-operation between Governments. The drug problem was not one of those which could not be solved, and which must be tolerated because no remedy could be found. On the contrary, it was one which all the nations of the world had recognised, had discussed, and had pledged themselves to remedy. It was one of the evils which the League of Nations was competent to remove, and the removal of which was one of the triumphant achievements which still await the League. The individual efforts of no single nation could stem the tide, but by the combination of all nations it could be stemmed swiftly and effectively. The States Members of the League were already bound by an International Convention to do this, but it still remained for public opinion in some countries to insist on fulfilment of that obligation. There were probably not more than 30 drug factories in the world, and if each Government concerned put a ring fence round these factories the illicit traffic would cease. The Convention of 1925 might not be perfect, but it represented the furthest point yet reached and was the most effective weapon available. He appealed to delegates on their return to their various countries to create an opinion which would insist upon action.

PERMANENT CENTRAL BOARD TO BE SET UP UNDER THE OPIUM CONVENTION OF 1925.

90. In anticipation of the Convention receiving a sufficient number of ratifications and coming into force, the Secretary-General had submitted estimates for the necessary expenditure being met from League funds. These estimates came up for consideration in the first instance in the Fourth Committee, but the question was referred to the Fifth Committee for their opinion. There was some question whether the expenses of the Board should be borne by the League at all, but it seemed to be the general view that such a course would be reasonable and desirable. Sir Fazl-i-Hussain associated himself with this view in the Fourth Committee. The questions which received most attention were whether the services of the Board should be remunerated at all, seeing that, practically without exception, appointments to the numerous advisory bodies which serve the League carry no remuneration, and whether, if the members of the Central Board were to receive remuneration, the amount proposed, viz., 5,000 Swiss francs a year, was adequate. After a long discussion the Fifth Committee expressed the opinion that it would be well if the Council could secure the gratuitous services of persons of the qualifications contemplated, and thus carry on the fine tradition of gratuitous service. But if this should prove impossible, as several members apprehended, the Fifth Committee was not prepared to say that the provisional estimate was sufficient. After further discussion in the Fourth Committee, it was eventually decided, on the recommendation of the Supervisory Commission, not to make any financial provision for 1928, on the ground that there seemed insufficient prospect of the money being actually required, owing to the delay in the ratification of the Convention on which the appointment of the Central Board depended. There are still certain countries, especially Italy, that are not satisfied that the creation of the Central Board will be the best means of regulating the Convention when it comes into force.

COMMITTEE VI.—Political Questions.

SLAVERY CONVENTION.

91. The conclusion of this Convention was one of the principal achievements of the Assembly of 1926. The Convention provided for the submission of annual Progress Reports which will enable the Assembly to watch the execution of the Convention. The reports which had been submitted by the Government of India in regard to recent developments in Burma and Kalat were perhaps the most striking feature of the material before the Committee. The Convention has so far only been ratified or acceded to by 14 countries, of which India is one. According to statements made in the Sixth Committee, six more countries hope soon to be in a position to ratify.

92. Several points required to be brought to the notice of the Committee in regard to India, and the Maharaja of Kapurthala accordingly made a speech. In the first place he made a statement intended to correct a misunderstanding for which the Indian Delegation of 1926 had been inadvertently responsible, viz., that the recent liberation of slaves in the Kingdom of Nepal had been influenced by the League. He stated that the Nepalese authorities had announced their intention of liberating slaves before they could have known that the League was taking the question in hand, and he called special attention to features of the work carried out in Nepal which might be studied with profit by other countries who were faced with the same problem. He then referred briefly to the events of the last year in Kalat and Burma, and he supplied information more recent than that which had already been furnished to the League in regard to the success which had attended the measures taken in Kalat. He also referred to the fact that, when the Convention was signed, it had been necessary for constitutional reasons to make a reservation excluding Indian States and to the undertaking then given that the Government of India would not fail to bring to the notice of the Rulers of States the provisions which had been accepted for British India. He was able to announce that the Government of India had now fulfilled the undertaking, and he expressed confidence that the Ruling Princes would devote themselves to the removal of such vestiges, if any, of conditions akin to salvery as might still survive.

System of Single Transferable Vote for the Election of Non-permanent Members of the Council.

93. The single transferable vote system means that the voter arranges the candidates for whom he wishes to vote in order of preference. At first only first votes are counted, but afterwards all first votes which are not going to be effective, i.e., those given to candidates who have already received the minimum number of votes necessary for election and those given to candidates who received so few as to have no chance of election, are disregarded, and the second votes take their place, and so on until a sufficient number of candidates have received the minimum number of votes required for election. The idea was first suggested by Lord Cecil in the course of the discussions relating to the constitution of the Council which took place in 1926, and it was subsequently taken up by the Norwegian Government, by whose delegate it was presented to the Assembly this year. The Norwegian Government described their proposal as designed to allow electors to exercise a free and independent choice when voting, and as ensuring at the same time their equitable representation. They pointed out that while, in the case of ordinary Parliamentary elections, there was prevalent the question of creating a stable majority as the basis of a strong Government, in the case of the Council of the League it was universally agreed that the Council ought always to embrace representatives of different ideas, different interests and even different races. The supporters of the proposal thought that the single transferable vote was the system best calculated to give this result.

94. The Government of India had expressed themselves in favour of the single transferable vote system, as they considered that minorities had the best opportunity of making themselves felt under this system. It was, therefore, best calculated to give due consideration to the main geographical divisions of the world, the great ethnical groups, the different religious traditions, the varying types of civilisation and the chief sources of wealth, these expressions being contained in a resolution of a former Assembly to which great significance is attached by Eastern countries. We were, therefore, instructed to support the Norwegian Delegation, and Sir B. K. Mullick spoke accordingly. He expressed the opinion of the Government of India and said that though a good deal had been said about the practical difficulties of putting the system into operation, these difficulties did not seem to him to be very serious. The electorate in the Assembly would be far more competent and far smaller than the average electorate in a general election in a European State, and it would not be affected by the violent storms of local feeling which were apt to sweep over a country on such occasions.

95. It was at one time believed that owing to the unfavourable attitude of certain Great Powers, Great Britain and France in particular, there would be little support for the Norwegian proposal. An unexpected volume of support was, however, given, and India was not the only member of the Empire to place herself in opposition to Great Britain. In the end the view prevailed that, as the present method of election to the Council had been introduced only last year, it should be given a chance of being tested before any further changes were made.

Concluding Remarks.

96. We have already anticipated to some extent our general conclusions on the outstanding features of the Eighth Assembly. The importance of the session was emphasised by the fact that leading statesmen, such as M. Briand and Herr Stresemann, who, on previous occasions, have been content to resign the leadership of their delegations into other hands, remained in Geneva on this occasion until the end of the Assembly. Fundamental questions were examined with an unusual degree of frankness and with a sense of reality. Those who may have thought that the idealism of the League would wither in such an atmosphere appear to have been wrong. The League has, in our view, gained much in strength from the fact that differences were more clearly defined and are now better understood. There is less uncertainty, for instance, as to the sincerity of the British Empire towards the League, and as the attitude of the British Empire may be claimed to be the greatest single factor in League politics a clear appreciation of it is of vital importance. At the same time it is clearly realised that the British Empire, in view of its responsibilities and commitments all over the world, cannot at present go beyond a certain point in the policy of altruism for the sake of international ideals, and though this fact necessarily disappoints the hopes and aspirations of many Members of the League it has been accepted with resignation and without bitterness. The events of the session might have shaken seriously an institution less securely founded than the League has shown itself to be.

97. When the Assembly opened there were many who thought that a deadlock had been reached in the great questions of Arbitration, Security and Disarmament, and that the proceedings of the Preparatory Committee for the Disarmament Conference would be adjourned sine die. As a result of the debates the Preparatory Committee will continue its work, both on the existing basis of security and in the more favourable circumstances which may be created by an improvement in the conditions of security of lines which have been indicated. At least the study of this question is still alive, when there was a serious possibility that it might not be so. At the same time the League is launched upon a policy of international reconciliation and co-operation in the economic sphere, which, in the opinion of many authorities, may lead to a realisation of the ideals of the League as effectively as the more direct avenues of approach.

98. We believe that the position of India in the League is being steadily strengthened, and that the claims of India and other non-European countries to greater facilities for effective participation are being received with increasing sympathy as the preoccupation of the League with the acute and urgent problems created in Europe as an aftermath of the war is passing away. The acceptance of new tasks depends upon the initiative of States Members, and so far the initiative has come almost entirely from European countries. We can understand the view current in India that the activities of the League contain little in which India can interest herself or from which she can benefit. But we think that a modification of this view would be justified by a candid examination of the facts. It would, in our view, be a matter of great regret if the opportunities offered to India by the League towards the development of her status among the nations of the world were imperfectly realised through ignorance or misunderstanding of the facts. For this reason, and because representation needs to be based upon an informed and enlightened public opinion, we feel that great importance should be attached to publicity.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE FOR 1926-27.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Agriculture and Industries Department.

Agriculture.

CALCUTTA, THE 12TH DECEMBER, 1927.

RESOLUTION—No. 5981 Agri.,

Minister-in-charge: The Hon'ble Sir P. C. Mitter, Kt., C.I.E.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Department of Agriculture for 1926-27.

Administration.—Mr. R. S. Finlow, Director of Agriculture, was in charge of the Department throughout the year. The Assistant Director, Mr. K. McLean, was on leave from 1st March to 31st October, 1926, and Mr. F. Smith, Deputy Director, Eastern Circle, officiated for him. The Eastern Circle was in charge of Mr. J. N. Sarkar, officiating Deputy Director, Northern Circle, during Mr. Smith's absence. During Mr. Sarkar's absence, his place in the Northern Circle was filled by Mr. A. R. Malik, a temporary officer. This officer again resumed charge after an interval of a month and held it for the rest of the year. The Western Circle was in charge of the late Rai Rajeswar Das Gupta Bahadur until his death on 22nd November, when Mr. J. N. Sarkar took over until the close of the year.

Dr. G. P. Hector held charge of the office of Economic Botanist throughout the year except for an interval of 6 months, when he was on leave and was replaced by Mr. S. G. Sharangapani, Assistant Economic Botanist. Mr. D. Dutta was in charge of the duties of 2nd Economic Botanist throughout the year except for a short leave interval. Mr. M. Carbery continued as Agricultural Chemist throughout the year.

Mr. F. J. Gossip took charge of the post of Live-Stock Expert on 2nd March, 1927.

Babu Bhabatosh Dutta, Chief Superintendent, Dacca Farm, was removed from Government service with effect from 1st February, 1927.

The Minister notices with regret the death in November, 1926, of Rai Rajeswar Das Gupta Bahadur, one of the oldest members of the Indian Agricultural Service in Bengal.

Government have approved a proposal for the appointment of 7 additional District Agricultural Officers and this awaits provision of funds in the next budget. The increase of the number of demonstrators by 10 has also been sanctioned as a temporary measure pending a further consideration of the question as a whole.

2. The Royal Commission on Agriculture examined a number of witnesses, including the Director of Agriculture and Assistant Director of Agriculture in Calcutta during the year under report, and visited a typical village in the 24-Parganas. They visited Dacca in January, 1927, where they inspected the Farm and attended an agricultural exhibition.

3. Agricultural Education.—The decision as regards the Agricultural Institute at Dacca which was arrived at during the year under report, viz., that the scheme should be proceeded with and a commencement with the construction of buildings made when funds are available, was noted in last year's review. It is expected that the Royal Commission will have something to say on the subject of the standard to be laid down for entrance to this Institution, and on other matters as well in connection with the scheme, but its views have not yet been made available.

The Secondary Agricultural School at Dacca shows no improvement in numbers. With room for 30 students, it contained only 10. The only conclusion seems to be that the class for whom this school is intended, viz., sons of cultivators or others interested in the land, have at present no desire to undergo a course at the school in order to improve their knowledge of agriculture. This attitude is in contrast, but not necessarily in conflict, with the keen desire, of which the Director's report affords ample proof, of the cultivators at large to take advantage of the expert knowledge and advice of the department. It seems that unless there is a prospect of Government employment at the end of it, there is at present no demand for the purely agricultural education which this school affords. The Hon'ble Minister agrees with Mr. McLean in his view that it is wrong in principle to attempt to purchase the attendance of more students by increasing the stipends.

A start will be made in the near future in the training of teachers for the teaching of agriculture in High English and Middle English schools on the Punjab system. This training of teachers will be in the hands of Agricultural Department and will be carried out at the secondary school at Dacca just referred to, but in close collaboration with the Education Department. It is expected that it will commence from 1st January next with 15 teachers selected from different schools.

While it is evident that the progress of education under this system will require particular attention, in that conditions in Bengal and the Punjab are so different, there is little doubt that there is much in that system which is essentially sound, and Government will watch the progress of this scheme with the greatest interest, making as it does an attempt, on lines tried out elsewhere, to familiarise the younger generation at its most receptive age with ideas of improved agriculture by making the teaching of this science part of the ordinary curriculum. As Mr. Finlow observed in his report for the year 1925-26 the scheme "aims at changing the mentality of a nation." Boys who have been given this bias towards agriculture will be, it is hoped, and certainly ought to be, ready to apply the results of the Department's invaluable research work to their own land and apply them themselves, instead of being content, the tillage of their land left to the ignorant cultivator, merely to live on the meagre results of his unintelligent exertions. In fact, what our educational policy should keep in view is that our passed students should be able to make a living from agriculture as a vocation and should not look upon Government service as the only source of employment.

The same class of study at an elementary stage in primary schools remains unsatisfactory, but it is a new thing, and Sir Provash Mitter is of opinion that it will be prudent to be content with small beginnings, and for the present it is proposed to concentrate on training in the secondary schools. In this connection Government have read with great interest Mr. Finlow's account of the primary schools which have been established at the sericultural nurseries at Amriti and Piasbari in Malda and at Kumarpur in Murshidabad, where, in addition to the ordinary curriculum, the children are taught elementary facts about modern sericulture. At Kumarpur the interest of the parents has been so much aroused that a night school has been opened for their benefit.

Perusal of the report prompts the thought that opportunities exist which the Education Department might utilise more fully. For instance, the report of the Mymensingh Farm states under the heading "Practical Training in Agriculture" that during the year inmates of the local guru-training schools "visited the farm four times and received practical instructions." Comment is needless.

In general, the Minister attaches great importance to the question of agricultural education, and he is convinced that this side of the agricultural problem as a whole is as vital as research and propaganda. Through education will be created that wish for better things which will cause the cultivator not merely to accept, with rustic suspicion it may be, the advice and help of the department, but to seek for it and demand it of his own motion. A great step will have been made when there becomes manifested in this way that dissatisfaction with things as they are, that knowledge that old methods are unsound, on which alone progress can be based.

It will perhaps be also necessary to create, in addition to our existing types of agriculturists, another type better educated, more self-reliant and who are financially better off. The creation of agriculturists of this type is bound to affect beneficially our existing types of agriculturists.

4. Research and Experiment.—This work in all sections has proceeded as usual on methodical and scientific lines, and though much has been done, much remains. There is, for instance, evidently a prospect that even higher-yielding strains of jute than those as yet discovered will be isolated and made available to the grower.

Marked progress has been made in the preparation of artificial farm yard manure to which prominence was given in last year's resolution. The fact that 3,000 maunds of it were prepared at the Dacca Farm in the year under report and that Mr. Finlow is able to say that probably for the first time in its history the farm had a sufficiency of manure, shows what a boon the discovery of this compost is. The ingredients are cattle urine, or other source of nitrogen, a little bonemeal and any and every sort of farm yard rubbish. It is obvious that this is within reach of any one, and Sir Provash Mitter trusts that the department's endeavours to popularise it will meet with the success they deserve.

The importance of fodder crops has not been lost sight of and it is encouraging to note that the popularity of Japanese millet, a quick-growing crop which can be sown early in the year and will give two good cuttings within 8 or 9 weeks of sowing, is increasing, and favourable reports on its qualities have been received. The possibilities of Natal grass, which has the advantage of not drying up during the dry months, as a pasture grass, are being investigated.

The Minister trusts that it will be the earnest endeavour of the Agriculture Department to bring home to those who own herds of cattle for a living the advantages and importance of fodder crops.

In the Chemical Section good work has been done on soil survey and analysis which has been much facilitated by the introduction of a rapid and simple method of mechanical analysis recently brought out in England. Mr. Carbery has also had the sugar-cane work under his charge. It is interesting to note that Tanna, the tough Mauritius cane which was introduced by the department about 9 years ago and which rapidly replaced the less productive local varieties, is now about to give way in its turn to C. O. 213, a cane evolved at the Government cane-breeding station at Coimbatore, the distribution of which has been going on only in the last 2 years.

5. Agricultural Stations and Farms.—The buildings at Malda and Ranganati are practically complete, while reclamation has made progress at Dinajpur and Mainaguri.

Schemes for district farms at Krishnagar and Baraset are nearing completion.

The khas mahal area in Barisal of about 200 bighas known as Char Badna has been handed over to the Agriculture Department and will be cultivated by means of bargadars under supervision of the Department.

The Hon'ble Minister notes with satisfaction the names of private individuals who are conducting farms with departmental advice on their own land, and it gives him particular pleasure to refer to the latest enterprise of Mr. Sarat Kumar Roy of Dayarampur in Rajshahi district, who has for many years conducted a well-managed agricultural farm on his own land, in initiating cattle-breeding operations on his own account. No less conspicuous are the continued activities of Rai Kumud Nath Mallick Bahadur of Ranaghat whose farm of 800 bighas has now been in existence for 13 years.

The offers of plots of land for demonstration purposes which the Director has received is a proof of the confidence which the department inspires.

The success of the Kishoreganj Farm, to which reference has been made in previous reports, deserves special mention. A small area of land acquired by Government for the proposed new civil station, was handed over to the department in the year 1923. The cultivation was done by ordinary cultivators who were paid for their labour in kind out of the proceeds of the crops. No expensive buildings were required and the outlay was insignificant. Only departmental crops were grown, and their value has now been appreciated in the neighbourhood to an astonishing extent. The area under sugarcane increased from a few hundreds to about 12,000 acres in 4 years, all under departmental "Tanna"; 7/8ths of the jute in the neighbourhood is grown from departmental seed, and departmental paddy is making rapid progress. The Minister is much impressed with the potentialities of this system as a means of popularising and advertising the results of the department's research. It, in fact, utilises as its demonstrators the very persons for whose benefit the demonstration is made. The Minister fully agrees with the Director of Agriculture that it is not only the cheapest but most effective form of demonstration, and is glad to learn that the farm at Jamalpur run on the same lines, came into full working order during the year under report, while a commencement has been made at Company Bagan, Krishnagar, and in the Char Badna khas mahal. He would commend the plan to Government officers in charge of court of wards and khas mahal estates.

He recognises at the same time, however, that there is still ample room for the regular agricultural farms of the department, both for research work and for demonstration, in that land is by no means everywhere available for operations on the Kishoreganj system, and because the varied conditions of different districts require local research and investigation.

6. Seed distribution.—The main lines are, naturally, jute and paddy.

The Fibre Expert reports that 1926 was the most remarkable growing year for jute on record and resulted in the biggest crop ever harvested. This resulted as usual in a heavy drop in prices.

In spite of last year's heavy crop and the consequent low prices for fibre, 3,708 maunds of departmental jute seed were sold as against 2,800 maunds in the previous year—a gratifying proof of the high esteem in which such seed is held.

The system of distribution was the same as before, viz., sales were made through the Government selling agent after test of every bag by the Fibre Expert for germination and cleanliness. This distribution was guaranteed against loss by the Calcutta Jute Mills Association. During the year under report the London Jute Association contributed Rs. 20,000 for free distribution of departmental jute seed, and this will result in a large increase in the amount under improved seed. The aim of this scheme of distribution which has been tried before with success, is to increase production, without increasing the area of land under jute. The Director, in fact, estimates that the increased use of high yielding departmental seed will eventually result in the release of land for other crops.

The inauguration of Jute Sale Societies under the ægis of the Co-operative Department may have an important bearing on the agricultural prosperity of the growers, and the Minister will watch with interest their progress.

Dr. G. P. Hector, the Economic Botanist, gives an account of the working of the system of local paddy seed farms run by private growers. There has been a great increase in the number of these, but Dr. Hector indicates that it may be necessary to curtail their numbers if supervision is to be effective and purity and germination continue, as it must, to be guaranteed; while the question of storage is a great difficulty except with the wealthy cultivators or with local bodies and associations. At the same time this system offers at present the most feasible method of introducing departmental paddies into the enormous tract that carries this crop in Bengal; and also an important, if not essential, point is that it has the great advantage that seeds are locally grown in the tract to which they are suited The Minister has no doubt that means will be found to overcome the difficulties that present themselves. It seems that much can be done in the matter of storage by collaboration with the Co-operative Department; and in fact arrangements on these lines have already been carried out in several instances.

7. Cattle: Improvement of.—Mr. F. J. Gossip, the Live-Stock Expert, took charge of his office only one month before the close of the year under report. Since then he has worked out a scheme for the improvement of the cattle in Bengal and this has been approved as an experimental measure by Government. It would be premature to discuss its merits, but it gives hope of sound progress on sensible lines.

There can be little doubt that the appointment of a specialist in cattle-breeding and animal husbandry has come not a day too soon. Excellent work has been done in the past, at Dacca especially, as the demand for Dacca-bred stock proves, but among Bengal's 25 million cattle there is obviously a wide field for work The Hon'ble Minister hopes that under Mr. Gossip's supervision and with the co-operation of those who feel a real interest in the important problem of the improvement of the cattle of Bengal, there will be a real advance within a reasonably early date. At present on this, as on the other sides of the department's activities, the work is mainly educative, but the improvement noticed in the case of cattle among the cattle-keepers who supply the Co-operative Milk Union in Calcutta is sufficient proof that, if it is made worth their while, the Bengali cultivators will become alive to the importance of improving their stock and keeping it under good conditions. There is much prejudice, however, and a vast mass of ignorance to be overcome.

As before, cattle-breeding by the department was carried out at the Dacca and Rangpur Farms. At Rangpur there are two herds, a Hissar-Bengal cross and a pure country herd. The Deputy Director, Northern Circle, reports an increased demand for breeding bulls, and it is interesting to note that he states that this farm is self-supporting in the matter of fodder, Japanese millet being specially successful. The year was an unfortunate one in the way of casualties, 17 head being lost in various ways.

At Dacca there is a Sindhi herd of 39; a Tharparkar herd of 30 head; besides an Ayrshire, a Sindhi and a Tharparkar stud bull, and 3 young bulls. Seven Sindhi bulls were sent out during the year to various purchasers. The herd suffered from disease during the year and there were 10 casualties owing to foot-and-mouth disease and other causes. Proposals to increase the herd in connection with the cattle improvement scheme are under consideration.

Judging from some of the reports, e.g., Suri, Berhampore and Gosaba, the quality of the bulls at some farms (or the methods adopted by those in charge of them) needs overhauling. This also is evidenced by the great variations in the number of services given by the different bulls. The Live-Stock Expert is doubtless giving this point his attention.

8. Agricultural Associations.—The Minister notices with pleasure the good work done by the Presidency Division Agricultural Association together with its district associations. It is regrettable that the associations in the Northern Circle, so far from being what they should be, active agents for the popularisation of improved methods of agriculture and of improved seeds, are in few cases flourishing. He is inclined to think, however, that the remarks of the Deputy Director, Eastern Circle, are based on common sense, viz., that to be really successful, an agricultural association should begin from the bottom among the raiyats themselves. But this is as yet a somewhat remote ideal.

The Minister trusts, however, that in every district persons really interested in agriculture and enthusiastic about rural welfare will form themselves into live agricultural associations and that those who initiate the starting of these associations will remember that the raiyat is the person who is most intimately concerned with agricultural improvement, and any agricultural association which the actual cultivator is not encouraged to join cannot hope to achieve much good.

9. Exhibitions.—A good deal of excellent work was done by this method of propaganda during the year under report, the two most notable exhibitions being that at Dacca at the time of the Royal Commission's visit, and that given on the Eastern Bengal Railway's exhibition train. The former was most successful and reflects great credit on its organisers, notably on Mr. Carbery, Agricultural Chemist. The latter, a new departure, attained a wonderful measure of popularity, and it is gratifying to note that it is expected to be repeated.

10. Sericulture.- The Government nurseries were occupied as usual with the production and distribution of disease-free Nistari and Chotopolu seed. Pebrine infection has been brought to a very low percentage, but the Director of Agriculture reports that flâcherie is a disease which is now giving more trouble than pebrine. While pebrine can be avoided by selection, flâcherie is liable to attack the healthiest worms, but no doubt means will be found to deal with it successfully.

The production of seed cocoons was less this year by 179 kahans and receipts on this account fell by Rs. 9,050. This was due to a bad season marked by untimely rains, drought and hail: and an outbreak of muscardine disease.

The artificial manure referred to in paragraph 4 above has been introduced into all nurseries, and should help to reduce the cost of fertilising the mulberry plantations, always the heaviest item of expenditure in sericulture. The Agricultural Chemist also reports successful experiments at Dacca in the use of Sunn Hemp as a green manure for mulberry. The new disinfectant called "E. C." invented by the Imperial Bacteriologist, Pusa, is reported to give as good results as the formalin previously used, and at a less cost, the expenditure being reduced by about 9 per cent.

It is interesting to observe that the amount of seed cocoons produced by selected rearers under departmental supervision for sale now approximates closely to that produced by the Government nurseries, and that the quality was satisfactory. The former produced about 19,000 kahans and the latter 21,000. It is the policy of the Department to extend this system, always keeping in view the necessity of careful supervision and the maintenance of a high quality. In connection with the latter, the production of seed at Government nurseries will have to be continued for a very long time to come in order to provide the necessary standard of quality. Malda is at present the district where sericulture shows the most real signs of life; and the Minister is glad to acknowledge the valuable work done by Mr. Peddie, the Collector, to whose energy and interest the present hopeful situation is to such a large extent due. The demonstration parties referred to in last year's report were continued with an increased staff and with satisfactory results, and the Minister has read with great interest the Deputy Director's account of their activities. The key to success lies in the adoption of cleanly and scientific methods of rearing, and it is on this chiefly that the demonstration parties are concentrating. To deal with the problem of marketing a Silk Union has been inaugurated with the help of the Co-operative Department.

11. Propaganda.—As Mr. Ghuznavi stated in his review of events of the year 1925-26, "extensive propaganda is necessary in order to induce a wider adoption of the improved methods recommended by the Department." The position now is that the results achieved by the department in the research and experiment of the last 20 years are established as thoroughly sound and good. While far from suggesting that there is any finality to research, the Minister is strongly of opinion that the present policy should concentrate mainly on the popularising, and the dissemination, of these results. That these results have been disseminated to a marked extent already is evidenced by the numerous requests that are received from time to time for demonstrators or other expert help in various places. These demands should be met and met without delay, and the Minister is much impressed with the statements made in the reports of the Deputy Directors of every circle to the effect that they are unable to meet the demand for help owing to want of staff. He sympathises therefore with the Director of Agriculture's demands for increased staff for this purpose. The backbone of the demonstration agency in a district is the District Agricultural Officer, and it is evident that great attention should be paid to the quality, training and methods of these officers and their subordinates, the demonstrators, while the responsibility that rests on the Deputy Directors for the direction of this work is a heavy one.

In a province like ours where more than 43 million, forming about 90 per cent. of the population, live in rural areas and are mainly dependent on agriculture, much effective advance cannot be expected merely through a paid agency. Although a contented and efficient agricultural service is very necessary from the point of view of the agricultural welfare of the province, it is essential to enlist the active support and co-operation of those non-officials who are interested in agricultural improvement and rural welfare. The Minister hopes that the District Agricultural Officers will not only try to enlist the sympathy and support of such non-officials but utilise their help in the all-important work of propaganda and will also try to organise such persons into active associations.

It is a matter of great regret that the department has had for want of staff to discontinue the issue of the quarterly journal (a journal published in English). The Hon'ble Minister is convinced that newspaper propaganda, either by means of a periodical specially edited for the purpose or through the columns of newspapers (especially vernacular newspapers) widely read by the rural population or by both these means, is essential not only for the spread of agricultural knowledge but for creating and mobilizing public opinion for agricultural improvement and rural welfare which must be the foundation of real progress amongst the village population. He feels that no time should be lost in materialising these ideas. He is not much impressed with the argument that the "cultivator does not read" or "the bhadralok is not interested." The answer is that if few cultivators read and few bhadralok are interested to-day, more and more will read and be interested to-morrow.

12. The Government of Bengal (Ministry of Agriculture) have read with pleasure the list of names, submitted by the Director, of Government officers and others who have rendered valuable help to the department during the past year. Mr. L. B Burrows, Collector of Faridpur, and Mr. J. Peddie, Collector of Malda, deserve special mention, the former for his comprehensive and very practical schemes of agricultural and veterinary improvement through the agency of union boards, the latter for the excellent work he has done in connection with sericulture. The Hon'ble Minister trusts that all District Officers and Subdivisional Officers will take as keen an interest in these activities as the officers named above.

The Minister endorses the encomiums passed by the Director on his own staff, which will be duly noted and it is with pleasure that he records his appreciation of the services of Mr. Finlow himself, to whose energy and knowledge the successful year's work, which is described in his interesting report, is in the main due. The Minister is satisfied that the report gives an effective answer to the assertion of those critics who question the usefulness of the department. It is possible to criticise all human institutions, but it is gratifying to note that those who take an active interest in the day-to-day work of agricultural improvement appreciate the work of the Department.

The Minister would conclude this resolution by stating that he has to discharge the duty of reviewing the administration of a year in the policy or supervision of which he had no hand, and so naturally he had to proceed on records as he found them. The difficulties of his delicate task have been further enhanced by the fact that he had to undertake this duty even before he had a reasonable time to shape his own policy.

By order of the Government (Ministry of Agriculture),

R. N. REID,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Bhadoi Crops of Bengal, 1927-28.

(NOTE On an average of the five years ending 1925-26, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6 1 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—As indicated in the preliminary forecast, the conditions at the outset were generally favourable for preparatory tillage and for early sowings. Defective rainfall in March retarded later sowings to some extent, but weather in April was good. Subsequent conditions were favourable on the whole and the season may be regarded as a fair one.

Acreage.—The total acreage sown with the different bhadoi crops this year is reported to be 5,833,100 acres, as against 5,762,400 acres last year. Of this, the area under autumn rice is reported to be 5,072,400 acres, as against 5,015,400 acres last year.

Outturn.—According to District Officers' estimates, the outturn of the different bhadoi crops for the Presidency works out at 72 per cent. of the normal, as against 78 per cent. last year.

The autumn rice is reported to yield an outturn of 71 per cent. of the normal for the province this year, as against 79 per cent. last year. I consider, however, this figure for autumn rice to be an underestimate, and that it will not fall short of 80 per cent. of the normal this year. The gross yield of the crop for the province, on the basis of a normal yield of 10¾ maunds of clean grain per acre, is thus estimated at 1,602,500 tons this year, as against 1,564,700 tons last year.

R. S. FINLOW,
Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Third Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1927-28.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1925-26, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0·3 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.)

There are two crops—early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State and, to a small extent, also in other districts. The "late" crop is chiefly grown in Bankura and Midnapore.

Character of the season.—As indicated in the second forecast, the early crop in its initial stages was adversely affected owing to drought in Midnapore and Mymensingh and to excessive rainfall in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and Tripura State. Subsequent weather conditions were favourable but, at the time of maturity, heavy rain in Mymensingh and the Chittagong Hill Tracts diminished the outturn to an appreciable extent. In Bankura, the weather was favourable throughout. The prospects of the late crop, so far, are satisfactory.

Area sown.—The total area sown with early cotton is returned at 76,773 acres and that with late at 803 acres, against 75,106 acres (revised) and the same area, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—The outturn of the early crop is estimated at 19,757 bales and the late crop at 90 bales, against 25,062 bales (revised) and 80 bales, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1927-28.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1925-26, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 18·6 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—As indicated in the first forecast, the weather, until May, was favourable for preparatory tillage and sowing; also for the growth of broadcast paddy. Field operations for transplanted paddy and the sowing of seed-beds were done under good conditions in May, but scanty rainfall in June retarded further progress. The same applies to July and August also, when rainfall was generally defective and transplanting operations were greatly hampered, notably in some West and North Bengal districts. Elsewhere good progress was made owing to local showers. Favourable rainfall in early September facilitated further transplantation; but the rainfall in October, an important factor for the development of transplanted paddy, was again in general defect and materially affected the outturn this year, especially in the districts of Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Burdwan, Birbhum, Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Bogra and Malda, where the crop may be described as poor to bad. In the remainder of the province a fair crop is expected, especially in Bakarganj, Jalpaiguri, Chittagong, Darjeeling, Tippera and Noakhali.

Acreage.—According to the estimates returned by the district officers the total area under winter rice is 13,391,700 acres, as against the revised figures of 14,317,400 and 14,448,300 acres in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—From the summary of the district returns appended, it will appear that only Jalpaiguri reports a normal crop of 100 per cent. Ten districts report a crop varying from 80 to 92 per cent. Twelve districts report a crop varying from 50 to 75 per cent. In Malda, Murshidabad, Nadia and Burdwan the reported percentages of a normal crop are only 16, 33, 33 and 42, respectively.

According to the above estimates, the provincial outturn works up to 75 per cent. as against 88 and 85 per cent. of normal estimates, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Accepting 75 per cent. as the provincial outturn, the gross yield of the crop, on the basis of a normal yield of 12½ maunds of clean grain per acre, is estimated at 4,611,900 tons this year as against the revised figures of 5,785,400 and 5,639,300 tons, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for November 1927.

I. Character of the season.—The rainfall during the month was markedly in defect of the normal throughout the Presidency, excepting only in the districts of Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling and Rangpur and in the States of Cooch Behar and Tripura where it was a little above the average. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Preparatory tillage for and sowings of spring crops were proceeding favourably, excepting in some West and North Bengal districts where there was lack of adequate soil-moisture. Reaping of winter paddy continued under favourable conditions in East and North Bengal, while in West Bengal the operation had just commenced.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of sugarcane was generally favourable, while that of other standing crops was reported to be fair except in some West and North Bengal districts where they are in a poor condition.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—A fair outturn of winter paddy is expected to be reaped for the province, except in some West and North Bengal districts where the prospects were reported to be poor owing to lack of timely rain. The outturn of bhadoi crops is estimated at 80 per cent. and that of winter paddy at 75 per cent. of the normal.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Transplanted paddy and other standing crops were damaged in parts of West and North Bengal owing to drought.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of livestock was generally fair. Cattle-disease, however, was reported from fourteen districts of the province and from the States of Cooch Behar and Tripura.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—No insufficiency of fodder was reported except in parts of Murshidabad, Birbhum and Faridpur.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—Owing to an influx of new rice into the market, the price of common rice of the cheapest quality, during the second fortnight of the month, fell in all the districts of the province, except only in Dinajpur where it was stationary. It varied from 6½ seers per rupee at Howrah and Chittagong to 4½ seers at Noakhali.

IX. Condition of agricultural population.—The condition of agricultural people was on the whole fair, except in parts of Birbhum, Bankura, Dinajpur and Malda where distress prevailed owing to a partial failure of winter rice crop this year. Test relief works were opened and agricultural loans were being distributed. In parts of Nadia preliminary measures were being taken for apprehended distress.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

Page 267.—Insert the following as "note 2" under rule 5, numbering the existing note as "note 1":—

Note 2.—In the case of Military Officers in temporary civil employ, the Controller of Military Accounts who receives the foreign service contributions of the officers concerned is responsible for certifying to the amount of leave and leave salary admissible, the necessary information in the case of military officers subject to the civil leave rules being obtained from the civil audit officer concerned. Similarly, in the case of Government servants in commercial departments (e.g., Railways and Posts and Telegraphs), the certificate will be given by the departmental accounts officer who is responsible for bringing the contributions to account.

All letters or memoranda conveying sanction to the grant of additions to pay such as special pay and compensatory allowance, should contain a brief but clear summary of the reasons for the grant of the addition so as to enable the Audit office to see that it is correctly classified as special pay or compensatory allowance, as the case may be. In cases in which an official record in an open letter is considered undesirable, the reasons for the grant of such additions to pay should be communicated confidentially to the Audit Officer. In non-appealable criminal cases compensation may be paid out of the fines imposed and realised before the parties leave court. PART I.

Methods of Recruitment.

1. These rules may be called the Indian Police Service (Recruitment) Rules, 1927.

2. The Indian Police Service shall be recruited by the following methods :—

(a) By Competitive Examination in England, in accordance with Part II of these rules and such supplementary regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State in Council.

(b) By Competitive Examination in India in accordance with Part III of these rules, and such supplementary regulations as may be prescribed by the Governor-General in Council.

(e) By the transfer or promotion in accordance with Part VI of these rules of an officer belonging to a branch of Government Service in India other than a Provincial Police Service.

3. (1) All appointments to the Indian Police Service shall be made by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

(2) No appointment shall be made to the Indian Police Service by any method not specified in Rule 2.

(3) Subject to the provisions of sub-rule (2) the method or methods of recruitment to be employed for the purpose of filling any particular vacancies in the Indian Police Service or such vacancies therein as may be required to be filled during any particular period, and the number of candidates to be recruited by each method, shall be determined by the Secretary of State in Council.

PART II.

Appointment by Competitive Examination in England.

4. Candidates shall have attained the age of 19 and shall not have attained the age of 21 on the first day of August in the year in which the examination is held. They shall be unmarried and if they marry before reaching India shall forfeit their appointments.

5. No person shall be eligible for admission to the examination who is not a male and does not satisfy the Secretary of State for India in Council—

(b) (i) that he is a European British subject, and, if neither his father nor his mother was born within His Majesty's Dominions and allegiance, that at the time of his birth his father was a British subject and that his father still is, or, if dead, continued to be until his death a British subject, or

PART III.

Appointment by Competitive Examination in India.

6. A candidate must be a male and either—

(i) A British subject of Indian domicile who was and whose father and mother were born within His Majesty's Dominions and allegiance, or

7. A candidate must be in good mental and bodily health and free from any physical defect likely to interfere with the efficient performance of the duties of a member of the Indian Police and a candidate who is found after examination by a Medical Board not to satisfy these requirements will not be appointed.

8. A candidate must satisfy the Public Service Commission that his character is such as to qualify him for employment in the Indian Police Service.

9. A candidate must have attained the age of 21 and not have attained the age of 24 on the first day of August in the year in which he is selected for admission to the Competitive Examination.

10. A candidate must hold a Degree of a University approved by the Governor-General in Council or have passed the Diploma Examination in the 1st or 2nd Division from the Aitchison College, Lahore, the Mayo College, Ajmer, the Daly College, Indore, the Rajkumar College, Rajkot, or the Rajkumar College, Raipur, or have passed the Cambridge School Certificate Examination. In exceptional cases the Public Service Commission may, on the recommendation of the Local Government, treat as a qualified candidate a candidate who, though not possessing any of the foregoing qualifications, has passed examinations conducted by other institutions of a standard which in the opinion of the Public Service Commission justifies his admission to the examination.

11. (1) For the purposes of the examination the Governor-General in Council shall constitute selection areas, and every candidate shall be assigned to an area in which he is resident or in which he is treated as resident.

(2) For the purpose of these rules a candidate is resident in a selection area in which his parents reside at the time of his application, or have previously resided for a period of not less than three years, or in which he has himself resided (otherwise than as a student of a University only) for a like period, but the Public Service Commission may in special circumstances allow a candidate to be treated as resident in a selection area in which he is not resident:

Provided that a candidate shall not be treated as resident in Burma unless at the date of his birth and at the time of making his application he was domiciled in Burma.

(3) A candidate resident in a State in India shall be treated as resident in the selection area in which he wishes to serve, provided that the Public Service Commission may in special circumstances treat such candidate as resident in some other selection area.

Every Selection Committee shall include at least one unofficial member.

(2) For the purpose of this rule the Local Government means in the case of the North-West Frontier Province the Chief Commissioner and in other cases the Local Government of the Governor's province which constitutes, or is included in, the selection area.

(3) the Selection Committee shall examine every application from candidates assigned to the area for which they have been constituted and shall interview every candidate who appears to be qualified under these rules for appointment to the Indian Police Service.

(4) The Selection Committee shall make a list of those persons whom they recommend for admission to the examination. They shall include in the list no candidate whom, having regard to his personality, character, physique and general suitability as shown by his previous career, they do not consider in all respects suited for appointment to the Indian Police Service in the selection area. They shall also exclude from the list any candidate with regard to whom they are satisfied that he will not qualify in the written examination.

(5) Each Selection Committee shall send its list of recommended candidates to the Local Government, who shall forward it to the Public Service Commission with such observations as they may desire to make. The Public Service Commission shall make a final selection of candidates to be admitted to the examination for such year, and in so doing may make additions to or omissions from the list prepared by the Selection Committee, provided that no such additions or omissions shall be made except after consultation with the Local Government. To every candidate whom they select for admission to the examination, the Public Service Commission shall give a certificate of having been selected for the examination, and no person to whom such certificate has not been given shall be admitted to the examination.

13 No recommendations except those invited in the form of application will be taken into consideration. Any attempt on the part of a candidate to obtain support for his application by other means may disqualify him for selection.

14. The Competitive Examination shall be conducted in accordance with regulations made by the Governor-General in Council, and such fees may be charged to candidates as may be prescribed in those regulations.

15. A list of the candidates shall be made out for each area in order of their proficiency as disclosed by the aggregate marks finally awarded to each candidate and in that order so many of the candidates up to the determined number of appointments in each area as are found by the Public Service Commission to be qualified by examination shall be declared to be successful candidates for the Indian Police Service, provided that the Governor-General in Council is satisfied that they are duly qualified in other respects.

PART IV.

Appointment by selection in India otherwise than by Competitive Examination.

16. The Governor-General in Council shall call on the Public Service Commission to recommend and arrange in order of preference such number of candidates selected from such areas and with regard to such communal or other considerations as he may think fit.

17. The candidates so recommended shall possess the qualifications specified in rules 6, 7 and 8, and the recommendations shall be made primarily from the lists of candidates who have sat at competitive examinations held in India for the Indian Police Service, have attained a qualifying standard and are under twenty-five years of age on the first day of January preceding the recommendation. Candidates may, however, also be recommended whose names are not included in these lists. The Public Service Commission shall forward to the Local Governments of the Provinces from which appointments are to be made the names of candidates fulfilling any communal or other requirements that may have been determined in respect of particular vacancies who have attained a qualifying standard in the examinations, together with details of their examination results, and shall invite their views on the merits of such candidates. STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The present constitution of the Calcutta University is based mainly on Act VIII of 1904. This measure evoked a great deal of opposition at the time of its enactment. Since then, considerable progress has been achieved in all the branches of educational activity. The conditions in this province have also undergone change in various respects. It is now felt that the Indian Universities Act of 1904 is wholly unsuited to the needs of the present day. Evidence of this is furnished by the fact that it has been found necessary to amend the law relating to Universities in several of the provinces. It can hardly be denied that the existing constitution of the Senate of the University is not representative. The law provides for eighty per cent. of its members being nominated by the Chancellor. Only ten per cent. of the total strength of the Senate is elected by the registered graduates. Even this limited right is, on account of the high fee payable for registration, availed of by a small proportion of the educated community. There is no scope for the adequate representation of the general public interested in education or of teachers in non-Government colleges and schools. This Bill seeks to remedy these defects. It also attempts to provide a constitution for the University which is calculated to enable this body to perform its functions independently of outside control and promote the best interests of the people of the province.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

For some years, it has been widely felt that the Indian Universities Act of 1904 needs substantial alterations. In the Council of State, on the 23rd February, 1921, the Hon'ble Mr. Bhurgre moved that "this Council recommends to the Governor General in Council to take early steps to introduce legislation in order to place the Universities of India on a democratic basis." In the Bengal Legislative Council on the 4th July, 1921, a resolution was carried on the motion of Mr. Jatindra Nath Bose that "this Council recommends to the Government that steps be taken to effect the following changes in the Calcutta University, namely, (a) that at least 80 per cent. of the Fellows of the University should be elected....." During the discussion of this motion in the Bengal Legislative Council, Sir Provash Chunder Mitter (the then Minister of Education) informed the Council that in framing legislation he would be prepared to accept the democratic principle embodied in the motion and the Government would take early steps to modify the constitution of the University in such a way as to make it thoroughly representative of public opinion in Bengal and of various interests which the University has to serve.

This Bill aims at a reconstitution of the Senate on democratic lines and in framing the Bill, due representation has been given to the various teaching interests and the different courses of study. It gives an effective proportion of representation to Graduates. It has also given representation to the Bengal Legislative Council, to other public bodies and Associations, and to benefactors.

The Government has pleaded more than once that "reconstruction along the lines laid down in the University of Calcutta Commission Report has not been possible owing to financial conditions." It is indisputable that requisite funds must be guaranteed before the scheme of reconstruction of such a magnitude as has been outlined by the Commission could be taken in hand, but the amendments intended by this Bill do not require any financial guarantee or readjustment.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

First Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1927-28.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1925-26, the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 3·4 per cent. and that under rape and mustard 11·6 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Explanatory.—Three forecasts are issued for the spring oilseed crops. The present one deals with the area sown and the condition of the crops.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are grown chiefly in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions, the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is returned at 858·500 acres this year as against 924·200 and 936·500 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Character of the season.—The rainfall in September was above the normal in the Chittagong and in parts of the Rajshahi and Dacca Divisions, while elsewhere it was deficient. In October the rainfall was below the normal, except only in Jalpaiguri, Mymensingh, Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts where it was in excess. The preparatory tillage for the crops, as a consequence, commenced generally under favourable conditions. Dry weather since the latter part of October also was helpful to sowings which were generally normal, except only in parts of West and North Bengal, owing to lack of adequate soil-moisture. The present condition of the crops is fair on the whole, except in the districts of Nadia, Burdwan, Rajshahi and Malda where it is reported to be poor.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.
